

HOUSE PASSES DROUGHT RELIEF BILL

FINE POINTS INVOLVED IN CLARK RULING

Decision Will Have No Practical Effect on Dry Law Enforcement

REASONING IS NOT NEW

Second Possible Method of Amending Constitution Is Emphasized

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—(CPA)—Legal technicalities that will have no practical effect upon the right to enforce the federal prohibition laws are involved in the decision by Judge William Clark in the United States District court in northern New Jersey, who held that the eighteenth amendment had not been properly passed upon by the people before being embodied in the federal constitution.

The moment an appeal is noted by the federal government, the effect of the decision is temporarily held in abeyance so that the same situation exists as far as enforcement is concerned as it did before the lowest court in the federal system rendered its decision.

All this does not detract from the fact that Judge Clark's decision has some interesting points. None however is exactly new, for if the line of reasoning used by Judge Clark were ever sustained it would mean that practically all the amendments to the federal constitution including the so-called slavery amendment and all the others adopted since the original constitutional convention would be invalid.

Brings Out 2 Methods

That the decision does is to focus attention on the two methods whereby the federal constitution can be amended—one by action of the state legislatures and the other by constitutional conventions held in the several states. Both methods are proper and the only question at issue in the case decided by Judge Clark is whether the questions affecting personal rights the method of constitutional conventions should have been used instead of adoption by legislative bodies.

The language of the tenth amendment of the constitution furnishes the key to the whole situation. It reads:

"The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people."

COMMISSION REJECTS STATIONS' PETITIONS

Washington—(CP)—The radio commission today rejected the recommendation of Ellis A. Yost, examiner, that application of 20 broadcasting stations on clear channels for permission to use 50,000 watts power be granted.

The action does not mean final rejection of the request of the stations to increase their power, but remands it to Yost for new recommendations. The commission rejected the petition of 12 stations asking that the order limiting the number of 50,000 watt stations in each zone to four be amended to permit the increase.

The stations whose petitions were rejected were: WHAM, Rochester, N.Y.; WJZ, New York; WSM, Nashville; WBS, Atlanta; WSO and WOC, Des Moines; WGO, Minneapolis; WGN, Chicago; KGO, Oakland; KOA, Denver, and KOP, San Francisco.

The remainder of the 20 stations did not join in the petition.

730 IN REFORMATORY

Green Bay—(CP)—With 730 prisoners, the state reformatory is 200 over its capacity, Superintendent Earl H. Eklund announced today. He expects 800 prisoners by Christmas.

15 To 25 Years For Shiocton Bank Robber

Goes to Prison

Curtis Herferth, the 23 year old Northport boy sentenced to the state penitentiary for a long term yesterday afternoon for robbing the Bank of Shiocton on Tuesday, was all smiles when this photograph was taken Wednesday morning. He still was smiling when he heard the judge sentence him to Waupun for 15 to 25 years.

Italian Air Fleet Waits On Weather

Cartagena, Spain—(CP)—Bad weather probably will delay the start of the Italian air armada, bound from Italy to Rio de Janeiro, for Kuntiro, Morocco, its next stop, until tomorrow.

The six seaplanes which yesterday were separated from the principal flight in a storm and had to come down in the Balearic isles were expected to arrive here today to join the eight planes with successfully completed the hop from Orbetello, Italy.

Two of the six planes at Izva, Balearic isles are the relief planes which have been taken along to complete the contingent of 12 ships for the trip across the Atlantic should anything go wrong with any of those originally chosen for the flight.

City and Alcazar airport officials here have planned a formal reception ceremony for General Italo Balbo, Italian air minister and leader of the flight, upon his arrival today from Balearic isles.

General Balbo radioed that all those who had made the forced landing with him were safe.

99-YEAR SENTENCE FOR YOUNG SLAYER

Second Time Cook-co's Term Is Invoked—Bandit Killed Mother of Five

Chicago—(CP)—Cook-co's 99-year prison sentence, used once only previously in the Bobby Franks case against Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, hung today over Rudolph Hegovic, 13, convicted of killing Mrs. Mary Pelletier, mother of five children.

Judge Joseph B. David overruled defense motions for a new trial and arrest of judgment, saying he considered the verdict of 99 years at hard labor in Joliet penitentiary as just. He ordered the Cicero youth taken to prison immediately, and directed that he be placed in station confinement each May 22, anniversary of the day he shot Mrs. Pelletier in front of her Berwyn home after snatching her purse.

Hegovic will not be eligible for parole for 50 years and three months. The trial lasted three days and the jury deliberated two hours and 40 minutes.

Hegovic was arrested last Sept. 4, more than three months after the slaying, while snatching purses of two women on a north side station platform. He expressed dissatisfaction with the methods of two public defenders assigned to him, addressed the jury himself, voiced objections, and made several other attempts to conduct his own defense.

THIRD MEMBER OF BANK BANDIT GANG SUCCUMBS

Danville, Ill.—(CP)—E. H. Hunter, of Terre Haute, member of the bandit gang which Tuesday held up the Clinton, Ind., bank, died early today at a hospital here.

Hunter is the third of the five bandits to die as a result of a gun battle with officers who pursued them. He refused to give authorities any information. He is a native of Germany, having come to this country in 1912.

YOUTH SMILES AS BERG SENDS HIM TO PRISON

Hears Sentence Within 30 Hours After He Robs Bank of $180

Fifteen to twenty-five years in state prison at Waupun was the sentence imposed by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Wednesday afternoon on Curtis Herferth, 23, Northport, when the youth pleaded guilty of robbing the State bank of Shiocton Tuesday noon. Sentence was pronounced less than 24 hours after Herferth's capture and within 30 hours of the robbery.

The capture and confession of Herferth resulted from the vigilance of three of Outagamie-co's officials, District Attorney Stanley A. Staidl, Sheriff John Lappen and Officer Charles Steidl. It was Steidl who threw a posse of about 40 volunteers about the swamp between New London and Shiocton into which Herferth fled after his car skidded at a curve just outside Shiocton and tipped over in the ditch. Steidl enlisted most of the men in Shiocton and stationed them about the swamp.

Tracked Thru Swamp

Sheriff Lappen immediately notified all police officials in towns near Shiocton and with the district attorney, hurried to Shiocton together. In the meantime Steidl and his posse, started tracking the robber through the woods. Sheriff Lappen started an investigation at Shiocton and Mr. Staidl, accompanied by members of the posse, also started following the tracks of the robber.

Three times during the afternoon and evening Herferth was in the hands of New London police but succeeded in blurring his way out of arrest. As he emerged from the swamp, with his pursuers not far behind, Herferth saw a car approaching on the highway, but he boldly dropped the stolen money behind a fence post and walked into the road. The car contained Chief of Police Andrew Luck of New London and a posse. Luck questioned the youth who gave a fictitious name and told such a convincing story of running a trap line through the swamp that he was released. No sooner had Luck disappeared that Herferth recovered his money, hurried into a culvert and put it inside his shoe and returned to the road where he again accosted Luck who offered him a ride to new London which Herferth accepted.

Not on His Heels

In the meantime, Officer Steidl and District Attorney Staidl followed Herferth's foot prints to the roadway and into the culvert where Staidl made a careful search in the hope that the money might be recovered.

CUTS BARBER'S HAIR BECAUSE WIFE'S TRIM FAILS TO PLEASE HIM

Detroit—(CP)—Joseph Woznick took one look at his wife's haircut and said flatly he didn't like it.

"I'm going to give that barber a trimming," said he.

Forthwith he went to Henry Lienau's barbershop.

"Which one of you fellows cut my wife's hair?" he demanded. Charles Kirsch, busily working on a customer, was pointed out by Lienau.

"All right," said Joseph. "I'll just trim up your hair like you did my wife's." He seized a pair of shears and fell to.

The hair flew as tonsorial work was suspended and all hands rushed to Kirsch's defense. Lienau received several jabs with shears. The whole affair wound up in court yesterday when Woznick was ordered to pay Lienau $100 damages. He also paid a $10 fine for disorderly conduct.

DENY PROBATE TO WILL OF FOND DU LAC MAN

San Antonio, Texas—(CP)—The fourth district court of appeals yesterday refused to admit to probate an alleged will presented by Dennis W. DeTray, West Chicago, Ill., dispossessing the estate of Dennis W. McKenna, who died in Fond du Lac, Wis.

Mrs. Minnie C. Hargrove, Milwaukee, contested disposal of their relative's estimated $100,000 estate through the will presented by DeTray. The will made DeTray principal beneficiary.

The contestants alleged DeTray, a spiritualist, used undue influence upon the late Mr. McKenna.

South Under Snow Cover After Storm

Atlanta—(CP)—The south's heaviest snow of the season, which reached a depth of 30 inches in North Carolina, was being erased today by the combined efforts of public agencies, householders and a feeble sun.

Two deaths were traced indirectly to the cold flurry. A heart attack was fatal to George Wilson in Durham, N. C., as he struggled in the snow to get a group of children to school. An automobile skidded on a white-blanketed highway near Cheriton, Va., killing Mrs. Mary Anne Birch.

Snow-laden roofs of six buildings in North Carolina collapsed, but there were no injuries. Heavy rains and gales with a maximum velocity of 52 miles an hour buffeted Cape Hatteras, Manteo and Cape Henry, Va. A snowfall of 15 to 18 inches forced the closing of schools in Patrick-co, Virginia, and in Rutherfordton and Forest City, N. C.

In Roanoke, Va., the unemployed manned snow shovels.

Concern was expressed for the safety of Frank Skilton, Eastman, Ga., hunter, missing since Tuesday night in the snow and sleet-lashed Ocmulgee swamps.

The icy film penetrated as far south as Macon, Ga. Warner weather was in prospect for late today and tomorrow.

THREE MORE QUIT STEEG'S MINISTRY

New Premier to Face Parliament With Cabinet Despite Resignations

Paris—(CP)—One minister and two under-secretaries of state resigned from the ministry of Senator Theodore Steeg today just before it went before the chamber of deputies with its initial declaration of policy.

The minister was Robert Thoumyre, who held the portfolio of pensions. Rene Coty, under-secretary of state for the interior, and Camille Cautru, under-secretary for agriculture, also withdrew.

Despite the loss of three members of his official family, Premier Steeg maintained his decision to appear before parliament and demand a vote of confidence.

The minister and two secretaries who resigned belonged to the republicans of the left and moderate center groups. They considered a paragraph of the ministerial declaration, which referred to the continuance of their groups.

Thoumyre, Coty and Cautru were present at the meeting at which the declaration of the new ministry was approved and it was said objected to the insertion of the reference to the laical schools. Their groups met after luncheon and instructed them to leave the ministry or be read out of their parties.

The announcement of the resignations threw a pessimistic aspect over this evening's debate and friends of the cabinet were doubtful of its chances of success in a vote of confidence.

WOULD CUT IMMIGRATION

Washington—(CP)—Secretary Stimson today suggested a cut in immigration of 90 per cent based on the existing national origins method of selection as an alternative for the Reed proposal to bar all immigration for two years as an aid to employment.

57 Killed Or Wounded As Coupe Wins In Guatemala

Guatemala City—(CP)—Guatemala had its third government within a week today after an hour of brisk fighting in the streets of the capital Tuesday afternoon in which 57 persons were killed or wounded.

The new president is General Manuel Orellana, who says he will serve only until General Lázaro Chacón, the elected president, has recovered from a severe illness and cerebral hemorrhage. Baudillo Palma, who was designated to succeed General Chacón by the council of ministers last week, is understood to be a refugee at the German legation.

MAN KILLED, SON INJURED AS CAR SKIDS

Henry Zarling, Clintonville, Dies One Hour After Accident

A father was killed and his son was seriously injured in an automobile accident on a rural highway about 3 1/2 miles north of Clintonville at 6:45 last night.

The victim is Henry Zarling, 66, Clintonville.

His son, Ervin, 15, is in St. Elizabeth hospital here with a fractured skull broken shoulder and cuts and bruises. His condition is said to be critical. He had not recovered consciousness at noon today.

Zarling, who had lived in Clintonville for about 15 years, was a retired cheese maker. With his son, he left home at 6:30 last evening for his cheese factory five miles north of Clintonville. Following a curve in the road, his car skidded into the ditch and Zarling was crushed in the wreckage. His son was thrown clear of the machine.

The accident was discovered by Albert Erdman, a farmer who was on his way to Clintonville. Unable to extricate the driver from the car, Erdman took the boy to the Conrad Koeller farm nearby. After calling a physician, Koeller and Erdman returned to the wrecked machine and freed Zarling.

The injured man also was taken to the Koeller home, but he died about an hour after the crash. His head was crushed, legs were broken and he was severely cut and bruised.

The boy later was taken to the hospital at Appleton in an ambulance.

Besides the widow and the son, Zarling is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Paul Born of Milwaukee, Mrs. Henry Thuesen of Oconomowoc and Miss Norma Zarling of Clintonville; three sisters, Mrs. Fred Schley, Sr., of Clintonville, Mrs. Herman Krueger of Oconomowoc and Mrs. August Krueger of Oconomowoc; and one brother Herman Zarling of Clintonville.

ROBBER GETS $4,000 IN INDIANA BANK HOLDUP

Plainfield, Ind.—(CP)—A robber held up the First National Bank and Trust company this morning and escaped with $4,000. The robber held several employees and customers into a room and awaited the arrival of Chester Pike, cashier. When Pike arrived the man forced him to open the vault.

JUDGE LYLE THINKS CHICAGO GANGMEN ARE LOW ON FUNDS

Chicago—(CP)—A financial pinch is being felt by Chicago gangsters Judge John H. Lyle, their militant judicial foe, said he believed.

"They have stopped coming in to court with thousand dollar bills," he said. "Their war chest is getting low. They are almost broke."

The judge was moved to comment by the experience yesterday of Bernard O'Connell. He was unable to furnish a $10,000 cash bond when arraigned for vagrancy and in consequence was sent back to jail. Several others have had similar experiences in the last fortnight, including Frank Rio, the personal bodyguard of Al Capone.

In Hospital

JANET GAYNOR

Honolulu—(CP)—Janet Gaynor, motion picture star, entered the surgery room of the Queen's hospital here at 7:30 a. m. today (1 o'clock p. m. E. S. T.) to undergo an operation for appendicitis. She had not emerged from the room 20 minutes later but the head nurse said the operation was successful.

Evidence In Poison Case Nears Close

Kansas City, Kas.—(CP)—The defense rested its case today in the trial of Major Charles A. Shepard for the alleged poison murder of his wife after calling several medical witnesses who cast doubt on the prosecution's contention that Mrs. Shepard died of mercurial poisoning.

Testimony was rapidly drawing to a close as the government began to present witnesses in rebuttal.

Prosecution attorneys indicated they would complete the rebuttal evidence late today or tomorrow morning.

Before the noon recess, six government witnesses testified they had never seen Mrs. Shepard take a drink or in a state of intoxication. All said they knew her at various army posts where Shepard was stationed.

The witnesses were Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Van Horn of Tucson, Ariz., who knew the Shepards at Fort Whipple, Ariz., during the World war; Col. and Mrs. George Skinner of Omaha; Miss Martha Miller of Omaha, a graduate nurse who attended Shepard when he was ill with pneumonia and Mrs. Ellen Austin, wife of an army officer stationed at Towson, Md.

SCENT COUNTERFEIT PLOT AT ASHLAND

Ashtland—(CP)—Paraphernalia believed used in making counterfeit coins and $37.50 worth of spurious coins were seized by Ashtland police Wednesday night when they arrested three Virginia, Minn., men.

The three men, who gave names of Vernon Hanel, 25; Stanley Patton, 22; and Emil Lindeman, 22, are being held in jail here pending arrival of department of justice agents from Minneapolis.

They were arrested by police on information from a gasoline filling station operator at Ino, Wis., who reported the three had stolen four quarts of oil from the station.

They told police they were on the way to Wakefield, Mich., in search of work. They refused to tell police how they came in possession of the counterfeit money or the quantity of habit and molding machine, used in making the spurious coins.

REHEARING IS DENIED CONDEMNED MURDERER

Springfield, Ill.—(CP)—John Preston, Chicago painter, formerly of Minneapolis, sentenced to die January 8, for the murder of Agnes Johnson, today was denied a rehearing of his case for the second time and his lawyers, Eugene L. McGarry, Chicago, and Edgar J. Elliott of Dupage-co, were rebuked by the court for their "impudent and contemptuous" attitude toward the court.

BILL OPPOSES MILITARY TRAINING IN SCHOOLS

Washington—(CP)—Representative Browne, Republican, Wisconsin, sponsors a bill to withdraw federal support from military training in high schools.

The bill does not affect the reserve officers training corps in colleges or military academies.

SPAIN AGAIN CALM; TROOPS RULE CITIES

People Appear to Desire Only Peace but Revolt Spirit Still Lives

(Note—An Associated Press correspondent, on a 200 mile automobile trip through northern Spain has brought out this first hand report on conditions in the area most seriously affected by the recent revolutionary attempts.)

BY MELVIN K. WHITELEATHER

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier—(CP)—Spain's northwestern seacoast provinces where revolution flared on Monday today had sunk back into the surface calm which came with defeat at the hands of troops loyal to their king.

The phrase "in memoriam," adequately describes the atmosphere, for the people and their leaders seem to feel that their day of revolution is over.

A 200-mile automobile trip by an Associated Press correspondent through the sections which saw not a little bloodshed and whose people still harbor the will to revolt, revealed that those who took part in a concerted effort to overthrow the monarchy are now taking stock of their apparent failure and asking themselves why they failed.

Union labor throughout the section visited carried through its share of the insurrection by responding to the order for a general strike.

But today the town of San Sebastian was calm, a "lull" still under the spell of the strikers. At Bilbao, where the strike was 99 per cent effective, trolley service was functioning again but the cars carried crew of civil guardsmen. The streets of both towns and of their industrial suburbs were filled with milling crowds of idle workmen who seemed a constant threat to the soldiers.

No New Fighting

Mounted troops with rifles slung in holsters occasionally charged and dispersed street corner groups, but there has been no serious fighting at Bilbao since Tuesday and none at San Sebastian since the bloody encounter of last Monday morning.

From time to time, as this "tour" moved through the strike-ridden area, a rifle shot cracked out, and each time there came the rumor that another man had died. But usually the shots were traced to soldiers who fired into the air to scatter crowds.

Bilbao is a hotbed of revolution and the home grounds of the republicans. Here if anywhere a new insurrection might arise, but today the townsmen, with army rifles under their noses, were not talking much above a whisper, and they were not even whispering about revolution.

The Socialist and Republican leaders have taken to their heels and their followers don't even know where they have gone. Some of them, of course, are in jail. Others go across the frontier somehow and are living in Hendaye until the trouble blows over.

In the little villages which cling to the sides of the Pyrenees just the other side of the frontier in Spain, the peasants didn't even know there had been a revolution. The word itself meant nothing to them and they led their little donkeys through the mountain provinces of Biscay and Guipuzcoa as though nothing had happened. Their women were carrying their wares to market in the good old-fashioned way, on their heads.

All in all, a firsthand observer—and there have been few passing through this vicinity in recent weeks—could not but feel that the people are fed up with revolution and eager only for the return of peace which will give them back their businesses and their livelihood.

PUBLISHER'S WIFE IS KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Dalhousie, Texas—(CP)—Mrs. I. D. Devine, wife of the publisher of the Times at Dalhousie, on the Texas-Oklahoma line near here, died today of injuries received when the newspaper plant was wrecked by an explosion last night.

Burdice Smith of Nephthill, Texas, a printer who was working on the newspaper, was believed fatally injured. Devine was hurt, but not seriously.

Officers who investigated the blast said doubtless it was caused by an accumulation of gas.

The building, recently completed at a cost of $8,000, was a complete loss. Windows in a nearby church were broken by the explosion.

FAVORS FUND FIRST ASKED BY PRESIDENT

Vote Is 226 to 146—Measure Now Goes to Joint Conference

O. K. FOR FARM BILL

G. O. P. Senators Defend Hoover's Record Against His Foes

Washington—(CP)—The house today passed the Wood bill to provide an additional $150,000,000 for the farm board.

The measure now goes to the senate. It passed without opposition. Chairman Wood, of the appropriations committee, had explained that the board advised the committee fully on its plans to use the money.

Representative Cochran, Democrat, Missouri, at first objected to bringing up the measure under unanimous consent, but upon Wood's explanation withdrew his objection.

Washington—(CP)—The house today adopted the administration's $300,000,000 drought relief bill as a substitute for the senate's $60,000,000 measure.

The next step is a conference between the senate and house to adjust their differences. Then each branch must agree on the conference report, before the measure can be enacted into law by President Hoover signing it.

The vote on adoption was 226 to 146. Final passage followed quickly.

Democrats voted against the substitute in the hope of securing favorable action on the senate measure. The substitute carries no provision for "loans for food."

Turn Down Larger Sum

Earlier the house rejected an attempt to double the administration's $300,000,000 drought relief measure. The count was 139 to 105 on a standing vote.

Representative Jones, Democrat, Texas, who sponsored the increase, demanded a count by tellers. Those for and against began passing in line between the tellers immediately.

The teller vote for rejection was 139 to 133. Under the rules of the house, record votes are not permissible when a measure is being considered in the committee of the whole house as was the case here.

An effort by Democrats to provide loans for food for humans was ruled out on a point of order. The amendment was proposed by Representative McKeeven, Democrat, Oklahoma.

Representative Hale, Republican, New Hampshire, who was in the chair, held it was not germane.

SENATE CHANGES STAND

Washington, D. C.—(CP)—The senate today reversed itself and agreed to the house provision giving President Hoover a free hand in allocating the emergency $116,000,000 construction fund. The vote was 42 to 39.

Chairman Jones of the appropriations committee warned the senate before the roll call that insistence upon its previous decision to take away this power from the president would mean "indefinite delay" in enactment of the emergency appropriation.

A coalition of Democrats and Republican independents combined under the leadership of Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the minority leader, to insist upon taking away the provision in the house bill giving freedom of action to the president. However, the combination fell just short.

Seven Democrats voted with the Republicans, in restoring the house provision.

As a result of the vote a threatened deadlock with the house on the legislation may be averted although the senate yesterday voted to stand by two other amendments which the house conferees have rejected.

Resent Slam at Hoover

Senate Republicans were quick today to strike back at an attack upon President Hoover by Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, who complained that Mr. Hoover had never given an itemized accounting of the $100,000,000 food relief fund he administered in 1919 in Europe as American food administrator.

After McKellar had reiterated his

U. S. Officers Move To Rush Prohibition Ruling To High Court

ATTORNEY TO CONFER WITH JUDGE CLARK

Appeal Would Hold Decision in Abeyance Until After Review

BULLETIN
Newark, N. J.—(AP)—United States Attorney Philip Forman today appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States from Federal Judge William Clark's decision holding the eighteenth amendment invalid.

Trenton, N. J.—(AP)—Federal authorities moved today to expedite to the supreme court Judge William Clark's decision invalidating the eighteenth amendment.

Philip Forman, United States attorney, returned from Washington where he conferred with Attorney General Mitchell and other officials. He said he planned to appear before Judge Clark today to have the legal machinery set in motion which will carry the case of the United States vs. Sprague and Howey to the highest court. The necessary steps include entering of a judgment by Judge Clark, filing of an appeal and the granting of an order for the appeal by the court.

The effect of filing an appeal will be to hold Judge Clark's decision in abeyance until it has been reviewed by the supreme court.

Although defense attorneys in New Jersey and other states lost no time in seeking to have indictments against their clients quashed on the basis of Judge Clark's decision, other federal judges refused to follow the invalidation opinion.

Federal Judge William Runyon at Newark, in the first liquor case before him after the rendering of Judge Clark's opinion refused to dismiss the defendant on the ground the eighteenth amendment was invalid. He said he was not bound by Judge Clark's decision and that the supreme court had passed on the eighteenth amendment.

In Boston, three former assistant United States attorneys, acting as counsel for three liquor case defendants, filed motions to quash the indictments, basing their motions on the New Jersey decision that the eighteenth amendment was invalid. The United States attorney's office said the Clark decision was of no effect in that district.

Other Cases Pending
The decision also was invoked in federal court in Chicago when attorneys for George Morris filed a motion to quash an indictment charging violation of the prohibition law.

Two cases in which the validity of the eighteenth amendment is attacked are now pending in federal courts in New York and Rhode Island.

The New York case is under advisement of three judges in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. It is the case of Louis E. Tribault of Windsor, Vt., who was found guilty of possession and sale of two pints of liquor. The case was argued before the court of appeals by Daniel F. Cohalan, Selden Bacon and Prof. Leslie J. Tompkins of New York university, who were associated in presenting the Sprague case before Judge Clark.

In Providence, R. I., a demurrer to indictments against Jack Marks and his son-in-law, Tony Maurice, is before Judge Ira Lloyd Letta in federal court. The question of validity of the eighteenth amendment was raised when the defendants were arraigned before United States Commissioner Fred A. Otis, who referred the case to the court.

Federal liquor raids were made in New Jersey after Col. Amos W. Woodcock, prohibition director wired Deputy Administrator Louis J. Tuti at Newark, to carry on despite Judge Clark's decision.

COMMITTEE TO MEET
The poor committee is scheduled to meet at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Several indigent cases will be considered.

FAMOUS WISCONSIN LAWYER SUCCEUMBS

Wheeler P. Bloodgood Is Victim of Pneumonia at Milwaukee

Milwaukee—(AP)—Pneumonia last night proved fatal to Wheeler Peckham Bloodgood, senior member of one of the oldest law firms in Milwaukee and known throughout the nation for his work in aiding labor and anti-trust legislation. He was 59.

During the World War, Mr. Bloodgood was chairman of the Wisconsin Defense league, recognized as the first war organization to be formed in the United States. At the time of his death he was chairman of the committee on plan and scope for the national civic federation and for years had been active as a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

Since 1923, he had been civilian aide in Wisconsin to the secretary of war. When the late John W. Weeks resigned as head of the war department, President Coolidge was urged to appoint Mr. Bloodgood as successor. He was recognized as a supporter of national defense and was credited as an organizer of civilian training in Wisconsin.

He was born in Milwaukee and received his preparatory schooling at St. John's Military Academy, Delaford. He studied law in his father's office prior to admission to the bar.

Mr. Bloodgood is survived by his widow and four children, the Rev. Francis J. Bloodgood, pastor of St. Andrews Episcopal church, Madison; David Wheeler Bloodgood, associated in the law business of Wisconsin, and Miss Elizabeth Bloodgood, attending Milwaukee-Dowling college here.

DEATH CALLS SEN. GREENE OF VERMONT

Succumbs at St. Albans—Submitted to Operation Earlier in Week

St. Albans, Vt.—(AP)—Vermont today mourned the passing of Frank L. Greene, her senior United States senator. He died at a hospital here yesterday after an operation for hernia Monday.

Two sons, Stuart of Boston, and Captain Richard Greene, U. S. A., who is stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., were enroute to their home here today. Captain Greene planned to make most SEN. GREENE of the journey by airplane.

Sensor Greene's wife and daughter, Mrs. Harris Alexander, were at his side when he died.

Sensor Greene had been partially paralyzed since 1924 when he was struck by a stray bullet fired in a gun fight between bootleggers and prohibition officers. For days his life was despaired of. It was at this time that he showed his loyalty to his duty and his untiring support to Calvin Coolidge, when he insisted on being carried into the senate chamber to vote in support of President Coolidge's veto of the bonus bill. His right arm was paralyzed and one leg affected by the wound.

Helped Support Family
He was born here Feb. 10, 1870, the son of Lester Bruce Greene, for some time secretary and treasurer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. His father's illness forced him to sell papers, run errands, act as a janitor and do farm work to aid in the support of the family.

In 1891 he became a reporter for the St. Albans Daily Messenger and eight years later was its editor. He enlisted in the Vermont National guard in 1898 and rose from the ranks to a captaincy. At the outbreak of the Spanish-American war he recruited Company B, first regiment, Vermont Volunteer Infantry, and at the close of the war was commissioned a colonel and aide-de-camp on the staff of the governor of Vermont.

In 1902 he entered politics as a member of the Vermont house of representatives. He served as a delegate-at-large to the Republican national convention six years and in 1912 was elected to congress. He entered the senate in 1923 and two years ago was reelected to serve until 1935.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 11 o'clock in the Congregational church here. Burial will be in St. Albans.

LUMBER COMPANY WINS SLASH IN ASSESSMENT

Lafayette—(AP)—The John S. Owen Lumber company, one of the few non-resident owners of land in the county which has continued to pay taxes on unimproved land, has won affirmation of a decreased assessment on its property from a board of review.

Town officers reduced the assessments on unimproved land and increased them on improved land. In 1928, the company appealed to the state tax commission, won a reassessment and found the town board appealed it to the board of review. The board upheld the tax commission representative's reassessments.

400 MECHANICS ON STRIKE IN JERSEY

Aircraft Motors Makers Object to Bonus and Group Incentive Systems

Paterson, N. J.—(AP)—Four hundred mechanics engaged in the manufacture of aircraft motors failed to appear today at their benches in the plant of the Wright Aeronautical company.

The International Machinists' Union said the walkout, which came at a time when government orders would keep the men busy for two years, was in protest against the bonus and group incentive systems. B. M. Gordon, treasurer of the company, said he "knew no legitimate reason for the strike."

The union statement said, "all speed up systems have proved to be wage reduction systems. The systems to which we object are the bonus and group incentive. The latter is a very complicated one, even to the management."

"All overtime rates are abolished under this system, a reduction of wages of 50 per cent in overtime rates, a possible reduction in our basic rate of 15 per cent and no guarantee that our bonus rates will remain set."

The strikers also object to a 10 per cent wage cut effective Nov. 1. The United States Labor department failed in a conciliatory effort.

Believes Oil And Mineral Lands Will Aid Farmers

Oklahoma City—(AP)—Thousands of American farmers may discover they are living atop "very real farm relief," in the way of sub-surface mineral and oil possibilities, believes John Simpson of Oklahoma City, president of the Farmers' union of America.

Simpson's office here issued a statement which it said followed introduction of a congressional resolution by Senator Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, asking the secretary of agriculture to investigate extent and value of mineral resources of the United States "as a farm asset" and also the possibility of farmers handling such resources through cooperative mineral acreage pools.

The farm union president said farm relief discussed apparently had neglected consideration of mineral resources. He said the Thomas resolution was a step looking toward "enabling the farmer to mobilize in American farm land, through voluntary cooperative effort."

Farm leaders with whom Simpson had conferred, he said, recognized the cooperative mineral acreage pooling "would enable tens of thousands of farmers to cash in on a neglected farm asset which is, in most cases, now a frozen asset."

This opportunity, he said, "does not exist merely in those states commonly recognized as productive of oil, gas and other minerals. Well recognized authorities insist that about 57 per cent of the United States is potential oil, gas and other mineral territory."

Simpson said farmers unions of Oklahoma and Kansas, already had cooperatively pooled "tens of thousands of mineral acres underlying their lands."

"One such cooperative showed an increase in appraised per acre valuation of from $2 to $24 in four years—without actual production of minerals."

SENATOR ASKS ABOUT UNEMPLOYMENT HERE

Information on unemployment relief in Appleton has been requested of Mayor John Goodland, Jr., by Senator Robert M. La Follette, chairman of the national committee working for the relief of the unemployed. The information will be used as part of a survey to determine whether the federal government should share with municipalities and states a part of the cost of the program of unemployment relief.

The senator's letter stated that some members of the United States senate feel very strongly that the economic conditions in the country require the federal government to share with the municipalities and state government at least 50 percent over normal expenditures.

The letter asks for data on the number of persons unemployed, increase over last year and two years ago of number of persons calling for aid, increase in appropriations for relief, and relief by private agencies. The mayor's opinion on a federal appropriation for this purpose is also asked.

HAVE PATIENCE ABOUT GARBAGE. MAYOR SUGGESTS

Until a garbage collection system is organized, the John Tracy farm, the furnace and the barrel in the backyard are the only places for disposing of garbage for those who do not hire regular collection.

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., asks residents to be patient until some collection system is worked out, and to use one of the three methods suggested rather than throwing rubbish into the ravines.

Cans and bottles thrown into a barrel in the backyard or a carton in the basement should be rinsed so insects will not breed. These junk boxes will be collected during the annual clean up week the first part of May. Ashes may be thrown into the ravines in the city.

Persons with cars can haul their garbage to the John Tracy farm just as easily as they used to take it to the ravines in the city, states the mayor. The route to the Tracy farm is east on John-st and the Darbo road until a sign directs the driver to turn left to the farm.

Pig Farm, Rendering Plant Enter Garbage Disposal Problem

TWO NEW BIDS SUBMITTED TO CITY COUNCIL

Proposals Turned Over to Board of Public Works for Study

Pigs burrowed in as rivals to incineration at the meeting of the common council Wednesday night, giving the garbage disposal problem a triangle face—incineration, pigs, rendering plant. Two bids, one to dispose of Appleton garbage by the pig method and the other through an arrangement with the Appleton Rendering plant, were turned over to the board of public works for further investigation.

After spending almost half the first hour of the council meeting discussing where and how to discuss it, much of the evening's business was referred to the committee of the whole. The committee brought back two resolutions: that the garbage disposal bids be turned over to the board of public works and that the mayor be authorized to go to Washington to confer with federal officials on the type of structure for the new postoffice building.

The Rendering company, which several weeks ago made a verbal offer to the city for the disposal of garbage, Wednesday night proposed, in a written document, to burn Appleton garbage for $8,500 a year over a period of five years, with the city responsible for the collection and delivery of garbage to the plant.

Offers $5,000 Bid

Henry Schwarzbauer, owner of a hog farm in the town of Menasha, 13 miles out of Appleton, offered to dispose of all edible garbage for five years for $5,000 a year. His contract stipulated that the city is to erect a receptacle for the garbage at the Schwarzbauer farm, that the city be responsible for collection and delivery to the farm, that four deliveries a day be made with the exception of Sundays and that the garbage contain food substance for hogs, either wrapped or unwrapped.

Alderman W. H. Vanderheyden wanted to appoint a committee to study the proposals, Aldermen Philip Vogt and R. F. McGillan thought the bids should go to the committee of the whole, Alderman George Richards felt these two bids should get the same attention as the incinerator bids and Alderman George Backlund favored forgetting disputable methods of garbage disposal and concentrating all attention on the erection of an incinerator. He reminded the council that the committee report recommending the construction of a incinerator had been accepted by a 11 to 1 vote and counted it strange that these new methods of garbage disposal had all piled their heads into the picture after the decision to build an incinerator had been made. He felt that these new proposals were taking the council into byways that would lead nowhere and that it would be better to bend all effort toward providing the modern method of garbage disposal, incineration.

Study Madison's Plan

Madison's method of garbage disposal—city collection and hog consumption—was discussed. The city pays $38,000 a year to the manager of a hog farm for the consumption of all garbage. Incineration, they estimate, would cost $35,000 a year. However, their report did not indicate whether the cost of garbage collection was included in the $35,000 estimated for incineration.

A proposal by the Municipal Trencher company, one of the bidders, to install a plant and give Appleton a 60-day trial before payment, was also turned over to the board of public works.

Upon the suggestion of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, the mayor and an alderman, if necessary, will go to Washington with a representative of the chamber of commerce to attempt to change the plans for the new Appleton postoffice from a brick with stone trim building to a stone structure.

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., appointed Aldermen George Richards, C. D. Thompson and R. F. McGillan to act upon a committee to study unemployment relief. Charles D. Boyd was re-appointed to the park board and the resignation of George Loos from the board of health was accepted.

Protection of the city against a catastrophe from the explosion of gasoline in transit, such as that experienced recently by Fond du Lac, was referred to the ordinance committee.

Orders Signal Towers

The Chicago and Northwestern railroad company will be instructed to construct towers in conjunction with wigwag signals at the Story-st and Outagamie-st crossings.

The recommendation of the board of health that the milk ordinance be changed to make the publication of the results of the monthly milk tests optional was referred to the ordinance committee. The suggestion of the police and fire board that a light touring car be purchased by the police department instead of the proposed new motorcycle was turned over to the police and license committee. The board's report stated that a touring car would be less noticeable, that it could be used as a substitute for the regular police car when necessary.

The public grounds and building committee was authorized to purchase new equipment for the assessor's office the cost not to exceed $450. The new equipment, files, desk, chair and typewriter, are necessary for the installation of the new system by the Wisconsin Tax commission during its reassessment of the city. Forty parking signs for S. Appleton-st., S. Oneida-st. and Washington-st. 500 feet of fire hose will be purchased. The apples for water on Harvest-st. and street lights on W. Franklin-st. and West

STUDENTS PRESENT PLAY THIS EVENING

"Everyman" to Be Offered by Dramatic Department at Chapel

"Everyman," a sixteenth century morality play written by an unknown author, will be presented by the dramatic department of Lawrence college in Lawrence Memorial chapel at 8:30 tonight under direction of F. T. Cloak, director of dramatics at Lawrence.

Gordon Hill, Neenah, will play the part of Everyman. Al Hill has been a member of the Lawrence Players for several years and last summer was one of their most popular actors. Hill will be supported by an experienced cast composed of David Fullerton as Death, Marcus Plant as Fellowship, Grace Meyer as Kindred, Russell Dkat as Cousin, Harold Sperka as Goods, Imogene Perschbacher as Good Deeds, Lucille Schwartz as Knowledge. Robert Hunt as Confession and George Kleckivick as Beauty. Jack Willem will play Strength, Dorothy Gates as Discretion, Ruth Jane Karrow as Five Wits and Charles Peerenboom, Appleton as the Messenger.

The play deals with Man's preparation for Death and its inevitability. Everyman is summoned by God and tries each of his friends in turn, Fellowship, Kindred and all the others, in an effort to get someone to accompany him on the journey. Each refuses and Everyman learns that he must prepare himself during his life so that he could make the journey alone. The action of the play is heavy and dramatic instead of light, and is by far the most difficult production attempted here within several years.

M'NINCH HAS APPROVAL OF SENATE GROUP

New North Carolina Senator Throws Support to Hoover Nominee

Washington—(P)—Frank R. Mc Ninch of North Carolina, broke committee approval today as a nominee to the Federal Reserve commission, largely through the efforts of a member of the senate so new that he had scarcely had time to warm his chair.

Cameron Morrison, sworn in yesterday as senator from North Carolina, to succeed the late Lee S. Overman, immediately went to bat for McNinch before the interstate commerce committee. It voted ten to five for approval, with the smaller figure representing Democratic votes. Josiah Bailey, who will join Morrison after March, to give the tariff team for the first time in 30 years—had done his utmost to have McNinch rejected.

The later's name joined those of the four other nominees to the commission, previously approved. For McNinch and one or two others final approval is not assured.

The Carolinian, nominated as a Democrat, has been opposed on two grounds. One, that he left the party to lead a Hoover campaign in 1928, and again to vote for a Republican congressional candidate in 1930; two, that he was suspected by some of having connection with water power interests. This he denied.

Addressing the committee yesterday Morrison conceded that McNinch was a "mighty sorry Democrat," while Bailey argued he was no Democrat at all.

Denies Power Link

Of the nominee's fitness, Morrison said he was a man of unquestionable character who would fill the position with "fidelity and great intelligence." He denied the power connection, he said, it was through himself, a substantial stockholder in the Duke Power company.

McNinch said: "I couldn't say anything in favor of his fitness. He is a plain, ordinary citizen, a man of good character and there are millions of the same kind."

Later Senator Morrison said he estimated McNinch's appointment would place "three and a fraction" Republicans on the commission.

"When it comes to politics, McNinch is not a Republican and a mighty sorry Democrat," he said. "He was a Bryan Democrat until Smith was nominated in 1928. I don't know what that makes him now."

"I don't think much of a Democrat who would have an office under Mr. Hoover. There is not much life in a Democrat who wants an office under a Republican president."

APPLETON BOYS GUESTS OF SHIOCTON HI-Y CLUB

Thirty-nine Appleton high school boys, members of the HI-Y club, braved the cold Wednesday evening to journey to Shiocton and witness induction of 17 boys into the Shiocton high school club organized a few weeks ago. Seven Appleton boys also were inducted into the HI-Y club ceremony. Members of the Shiocton school board and fathers of several youths attended the ceremony.

Expect High Court's O.K. For Dry Law

Chicago—(P)—The National Women's Christian Temperance union today issued a statement expressing the belief that "the Supreme Court of the United States will uphold the eighteenth amendment as having been legally adopted and ratified."

Commenting on the recent decision of Federal Judge William Clark of Newark, N. J., that the amendment is invalid, the statement, sent to all state and local W. C. T. U. organizations, said that the W. C. T. U. hailed "with joy the opportunity for the Supreme Court of the United States to uphold this great reform once more."

"If we are wrong," the statement added, "we will start all over again to put the liquor traffic out of business. . . . In the meantime we ask the vets once more what they are going to do. If prohibition is held unconstitutional what is their plan by which they promise Utopia throughout the establishment of the legalized liquor business?"

"We have been told at each step we have taken from pledge signing, education, state regulation, local regulation, local opinion, state prohibition and national prohibition, that we were wrong. Our challenge to them is:

"What do you propose to do to justify your claims of crusading and reform?"

The statement also said that the W. C. T. U. knew Judge Clark's ruling was pending and "our feeling was that Judge Clark would make just the sort of decision he made."

Czar Burial Spot Pointed Out In Book

Prague—(P)—General Janin, French officer who was with the Czechoslovak legion in Siberia in 1919, purports to reveal the location of the remains of the Former Russian czar and members of his family in a book.

The newspaper Ceske Slovo, publishing excerpts from the book, says that General Janin asserts that he was given the remains of the czar, carina and czarevitch, by the Russian General Dietrich, who had preserved them with other objects of the royal family in a box and some trunks.

After various vicissitudes Janin claims to have escaped from Russia with the remains which he brought to France and offered to the Grand Duke Nicholas who declined to accept their custody. He then buried them secretly in his own family burial plot.

With remains of the bodies are jewels and other ornaments believed to have been worn by the czar, carina and their children when they were shot by the Bolsheviks.

DOUBTS TRUTH OF STORY

Paris—(P)—Eugene Regnault, French high commissioner to Siberia in 1918 and 1919, today expressed doubt concerning reports from Prague that General Janin, who was with the Siberian expedition, had brought the ashes of the former czar of Russia to France.

Regnault said he had gone with the General Janin years ago to the house at Ekaterinburg, where the czar and his family were supposed to have been executed. "We found neither bodies nor ashes," he said. "There was nothing to indicate where the bodies had been burned or where they were."

Since his departure from Siberia early in 1919, Regnault said, he had not been out of touch with General Janin, who was commander of the allied forces in Siberia and of the Czechoslovakian troops which remained there after the main body had been recalled.

Regnault now lives in Paris, retired from diplomatic service under the age limit provision.

The women exchanged Christmas gifts and held a study period on How to Choose Materials. A meeting, scheduled for leaders of clubs in the Nichols district at Nichols Thursday, has been postponed.

Captain Serravallo also said that his organization had not authorized the solicitation of any funds in its behalf.

complaint in asking that the provision of the $116,000,000 employment appropriation giving the president power to allocate the funds be stricken out, Senators Vandenberg of Michigan, and Glenn of Illinois, jumped into action.

"The only implication in this assertion," said Glenn, "is that Mr. Hoover is a dishonest man and an embezzler of public funds."

"I resent the implication and I deny the insinuation. I would do the same if the president of the United States were a Democrat. I believe every true American resents."

Vandenberg said sharply "nothing is more futile than an effort at this late date to tarnish the war record of Mr. Hoover as food administrator."

Attacks President

McKellar had called attention that the law appropriating the $100,000,000 food relief fund for Europe in 1919 required an itemized accounting. He said Mr. Hoover had not made any, and therefore he would vote against giving him a free hand in the allocation of the emergency construction fund.

Tennessee's charge that the president "became a career of utter disregard of the properties of government" when he entered the White House was characterized by Glenn as "unjust and made through malice and spite."

He also resented the charge that Mr. Hoover made "indecent and illegal" use of the marines in building his Rapidan river lodge, and the assertion that it was improper for him to use a naval vessel for his pre-inaugural trip to South America.

REFORMATORY TRUSTEES ESCAPE FROM QUARRY

Authorities throughout this section of the state are looking for Elmer Pagel, Outagamie-co, and William A. Allen, Milwaukee, who escaped this week from the Wisconsin state reformatory quarry camp at Amberg. The men, who were trustees, drove away from the camp in a truck, which was found abandoned in Green Bay.

It is believed they continued their journey from Green Bay in a 1926 Hudson automobile, which was stolen in that city yesterday.

Pagel, who was sentenced in municipal court at Appleton, was serving two years on an abandonment charge. He is five feet five inches tall, weighs about 151 pounds, is 26 years old, and has light hair and blue eyes.

SCHNEIDER VOTES AGAINST GAG RULE IN LOWER HOUSE

Rep. James A. Frear of Hudson Fails to Vote on Measure

Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent

Washington—When the questions of "gag rule" and "supporting the President" came before the House of Representatives in their most acute form, one of Wisconsin's "progressive" congressmen refused to vote, although they were present; the two conservatives voted for the "gag rule" and to "support the President"; the one Democrat, the one "independent," and five "progressives" voted against the "gag rule" and against the President. One "progressive," Rep. Hubert H. Peavey of Washburn, was absent, not having been in Washington yet during this session.

The question was presented in the form of a motion to suspend the rules, thus shutting off all opportunity to offer amendments or to debate the bill by sections, and pass the House bill appropriating $30,000,000 for drought relief. This takes a two-thirds vote, and it failed of passage, thus leaving the way open to take up the Senate bill, raising the fund to $60,000,000, or to amend the House bill.

Rep. James A. Frear of Hudson, chairman of the Wisconsin delegation, sat in the House chamber while his name was called on three rounds of the roll call, and did not vote, not even answering "present."

Restored to Committee

Rep. Frear now enjoys patronage and was restored last year to membership on the Ways and Means Committee of the House. He evaded several votes on the tariff bill, although on some questions he voted against the "regular" Republicans side on that bill and on others voted with the "regulars."

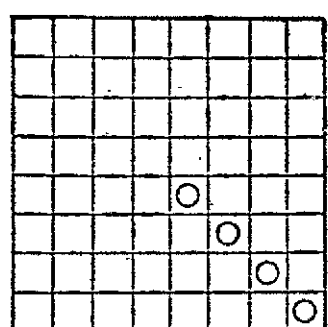

Reps. George J. Schneider of Appleton, Edward E. Browne of Wausau, Henry Allen Cooper of Racine, Charles A. Kading of Watertown and Nelson were the "progressives" voted against the suspension of rules, thus opposing the "gag rule" and likewise the President's wishes on drought relief.

Rep. Michael K. Reilly of Fond du Lac, the Democrat who succeeded Rep. Florian Lampert of Oshkosh, voted against the "gag rule" and with the Democrats on the measure.

Rep. Merlin Hull of Black River Falls, who came to Congress without the organized support of either the "progressives" or the "stalwarts," and who refused "stalwart" support in the last campaign, in which he was defeated, also voted against the "gag rule" and the administration.

Reps. John C. Schafer and William H. Stafford of Milwaukee, the only

Washington—The largest of 23 contracts recently awarded by the Aeronautic Branch of the Department of Commerce, $54,608.15 for 60 gasoline engine-driven alternating current generators and equipment, goes to Governor Walter J. Kohler's company.

The 23 contracts, most of which are for equipment to be used on the airways, totaled $5,660,221. The Kohler Company award was the only one made to a Wisconsin firm.

Two "stalwarts" in the Wisconsin delegation, voted in favor of suspending the rules and passing the bill approved by the President.

NEW RECORD MADE IN CATTLE TESTING

State Tests 158,132 Head During October, Officials Report

BY RUBY A. BLACK (Post-Crescent Washington Bureau) Washington—The highest number of tuberculosis tests of cattle made in October, a high record month, took place in Wisconsin.

A total of 158,132 cattle were tested in the Badger State in October by federal, state and county veterinarians working cooperatively in this effort to eradicate bovine tuberculosis. Iowa was second with 133,832 tests, and Illinois third with 133,645.

The total number tested throughout the United States in October was 1,329,885. Of this total, slightly more than 1.14 per cent were classified as reactors, signifying infection with tuberculosis. This was 3,799 fewer than those found infected in May, the previous high month, when 1,317,469 cattle were tested.

In addition to the three leading states, most of the testing in October took place in Minnesota and New York, with more than 100,000 cattle tested in each.

North Carolina, Maine and Michigan are the only states which have completed the tuberculosis testing of all cattle. The disease in these states is now found in less than one-half of one per cent of the remaining cattle.

The Department of Agriculture reports that a total of 1,073 counties, more than one-third of all the counties in the country, have virtually eradicated bovine tuberculosis while 400 others are actively fighting the disease.

Radio Freedom Of Speech To Be Tested Via Court

Lincoln, Neb.—(P)—A test of what is radio freedom of speech is involved in three damage suits filed here by C. A. Sorensen, attorney general, against Richard F. Wood, a lawyer, and station KFAB.

Sorensen's suits for $300,000 are the outgrowth of a speech Wood made attacking the attorney general during a campaign for renomination by the republicans. The cases in federal court allege slander.

The attorney general has as co-plaintiffs Irvin Stalmaster, his Omaha deputy, and Stalmaster's father-in-law, Harry H. Lapidus, business man and philanthropist.

The radio station was joined in the actions because it was charged, it sponsored the address by "introducing and vouching for the defendant, because a copy was available to its attaches and that a representative of the station was in the studio during the false and slanderous remarks."

Wood's remarks were made in a campaign in which Sen. George W. Norris, running for renomination, largely was the issue. Sorensen is of the Xone faction. Wood is a "regular republican."

KFAB issued a public disclaimer of responsibility for Wood's remarks, Dietrich Dierks, station director, saying that his organization was not in sympathy with personal attacks upon Sorensen, and offering a public apology. Wood also apologized to the attorney general.

WHERE IS PROHIBITION?
While the decision of Federal Judge Clark of New Jersey that we have no such thing as an Eighteenth Amendment in this country will be a matter of surprise to a great many people, it will not be so surprising to those who have kept in touch with the efforts of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment which has backed the defense in the decided case. Represented by the most distinguished counsel in the land, two of whom are descendants of signers of the Declaration of Independence, all of whom are serving without remuneration, the presentation of the case was a classic in constitutional history and understanding.
The argument is that while the constitution as originally adopted provided, that congress might propose an amendment which could become effective when "ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states," this provision had in itself become amended by the Tenth amendment which says: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people." The argument continues that when this amendment was first drafted the words "to the United States" were not in it and were suggested by Roger Sherman, thus pointing the Tenth amendment expressly at the amending power in the original constitution which was the only power delegated by the constitution but not delegated "to the United States," and that as a result the power of amendment became included in the reservation thenceforth made by the Tenth amendment.
All through our constitutional history as well as the framing of many constitutions in the original colonies both before and after the Revolution, a sharp distinction has been made between the legislature as the representative of the state and a constitutional convention springing from the people for the specific purpose of directly representing them. This idea was best expressed by Chief Justice Hughes in a recent address: "The founders sought to establish representative government, but they had a profound distrust of legislatures." The supreme court of the United States has in more than one case distinctly held that the legislatures of the various states in acting on constitutional amendments are not the representatives of the people but are merely exercising a function under the federal constitution, and that therefore they cannot be in any manner controlled by the people."
Judge Clark further held that it was the purpose of the Tenth amendment to prevent any sacrifice or surrender at any time of rights or privileges, in other words liberties, resting in the people excepting at their wish and that that wish can only be expressed either by direct vote or by selection by the people of delegates for that specific purpose and that alone.
But of course the courts are held to the language of the instrument where plain and the stumbling block apparently is the expression "reserved to the states respectively, or the people." If "or" be used in one sense it is destructive of Judge Clark's opinion. but it was asserted at the trial and approved by the court that the word was not used in the alternative sense but rather a distinguishing sense and with reference only to those inalienable rights belonging to the individual of which no man may even be deprived by his state or all the states acting in concert.
Entirely aside from the prohibition amendment, if the merits of a constitutional question can be separated from the heat of the immediate controversy, the decision contains much of the basic truth and philosophy of free government and if the constitution does not permit of this construction one is brought to the conviction that it is capable of improvement. In a constitution the people set up certain guards for themselves, give certain powers to the national government, reserve certain powers to the state governments. The whole framework is constructed to give to the people the greatest possible degree of personal liberty commensurate with a sound and orderly government. Is it sound to permit that personal liberty, dearest of all human possessions, to be impaired, restrained or frittered away without the direct consent of the people themselves either by referendum or choice of delegates to pass upon the express question? That is the question involved.

THE KING WRITES TO THE PRESS
To whom can a weary king, overcome by the prayers and petitions of importunate ministers, turn if not to the sympathies of his people? So it seemed at least to George V, king and emperor, defender of the faith, for Prime Minister Scullin of Australia has forced the king to appoint an Australian of humble birth as governor-general of that dominion by simply giving the king no choice, failing to propose anyone else, blank to the king's hint that he would send one of his own sons there "to confer upon Australia the greatest conceivable honor." Scullin won and the king gave way but not graciously. So the king placed an article in the London Times, not signed by himself to be sure, but personally written or approved stating that the minister had put him "in a position which is in accord with neither constitutional usage nor common courtesy," and that "a weaker sovereign might have mistaken obstinacy for strength and resisted his minister's advice. The powers of the Crown will be all the stronger for his majesty's consent in this case, but they must assuredly be kept in reserve."
In truth the king is on sound ground because sometimes a retreat is not so much evidence of weakness as it is of good judgment. The king does not permit his anger to mount so high as to obscure his vision. He will never forget the loss to the British crown of the greatest prize the world has ever known, America, because of the stupid and arbitrary means employed in resisting its wishes.
Scullin leaves the encounter having bested the king which is a dangerous thing for a commoner in a monarchy. The king leaves the encounter having given in to a commoner but for the sake of the peace and tranquillity of his people, about the only means of strengthening a king in a monarchy. Kings have learned a great deal from George III to George V.
CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS
There are fewer fin and more interesting ways of expressing the happiness and the good-will characteristic of the Christmas season than the exterior decoration of homes, a practice that is becoming increasingly popular in Appleton and all over the country. In many cities home decoration is encouraged by prizes offered by civic organizations and Christmas decoration is regarded as a matter of community responsibility.
There are few homes indeed that cannot be brightened during the holiday season by a little thought for exterior decoration. A few colored lights over evergreens planted in the snow for that purpose or hung on trees set out in the lawn give a holiday touch that not only brightens the neighborhood but arouses the Christmas emotion in every person that sees it. It is the visible expression of the resident's good-will to all the world.
Christmas decorations need not be expensive to be attractive. Some of the most beautiful exterior decorations are constructed in the home at little cost, but probably at the expenditure of considerable thought and pains. There are few families that cannot, with small facilities and little expense, devise a decorative scheme that will do much to heighten the Christmas atmosphere not only of their immediate neighborhood but of the entire city.
A little thought and effort expended in this manner will do a great deal toward making the city attractive during the holiday season. It is a labor well worth the consideration of every resident of Appleton.
Cassia glue, used in nearly all work likely to be exposed to weather because of its waterproof qualities, has as its main constituent the dried curd of ordinary cow's milk.
According to the practice now prevalent in monarchies the wife of the reigning king does not succeed to the throne in case of the latter's death.

The stock market kicked back enough so that we could compare the present levels to that of 1926. Why don't they compare it with the level of 1776 or something? Think of how much higher Wholesome Shares Inc. are now than then.

One of the husband-hunters was cooing at Wild Bill the other day. She told him how she loved kiddies (bless 'em) and a home and such.
"People think I'd make a wonderful mother," she cooed coyly at Wild Bill, "what do YOU think?"
"I dunno," growled W. B., "I have a mother already."

Kaukauma's Reputation Is Still Safe
Shiocton recently broke into the heavy headlines with a bank robbery. But it was a punk job. It was staged by an amateur who didn't have any confederates, who didn't shoot or club anyone and who got away with only a hundred eighty dollars. (Maybe that's a reflection on the Shiocton Bank.) At any rate, the lad who did the unsuccessful bank act couldn't have belonged to the Wisconsin Bank Bandits' Association. Those boys do a better job of it. A hundred eighty bucks. Pooh pooh piffle.
Both the house and the senate agreed to refrain from talking about the World Court for the remainder of the session. But dat ol' debbil Court will get back somehow. Maybe, it'll hide in Bob La Follette's brief case or sneak in while the senate is trying to think up an answer to one of Prexy Hoover's wise cracks.

Today's Anniversary
THE SLAVERY AMENDMENT
On Dec. 13, 1865, Congress passed the 13th amendment to the constitution abolishing slavery throughout the Union. It was the first amendment, out of the hundreds that had been proposed, which had been adopted in more than 60 years.
The amendment was the outcome of President Lincoln's emancipation proclamation which he issued on the first day of the New Year, 1863. The president declared that this "act of justice," that is, the liberating of all slaves, was warranted "by the constitution upon military necessity." He invoked for it "the considerate judgment of mankind and the gracious favor of Almighty God."
As further action than the proclamation was necessary to prevent the re-establishment of slavery after the war, Congress two years later passed the 13th amendment. The members of the House then joined in singing the doxology. The amendment confirmed the proclamation and extended it to all slaves held in any part of the United States.

Personal Health Talks
BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author
WHAT TO DO WITHOUT TO-DO.
NO. 3—THEY STILL HAVE GROUP, BUT FOR ONE NIGHT ONLY.
In the dawn of the twentieth century we doctors found it necessary to carry in our satchel medicines for simple group. Ha—simple in the doctor's estimation; the frightful enough in the eyes of the anxious parents. Now, a quarter century later, group is so rare that some young doctors think it can't happen. Old-fashioned group—"catarrhal spasms of the larynx," spasmodic group—commonly staged a three-night stand. The doctor occasionally saw the performance the second night, tho in many instances people hardly considered group sufficient excuse for contracting a doctor bill.
I cannot explain even to my own satisfaction why group has changed in character in a few years. I'd like to believe it is less common and less severe now because people are less afraid of fresh cool air in sleeping rooms nights. But that conjecture is not quite satisfactory. Then another possible factor is the newer knowledge of vitamins—perhaps children who get their vitamins are less susceptible to group. A third possible factor is the increasing intelligence of parents, even teachers, about the infectiousness of alleged "colds" and the effort to protect children from undue exposure to such infection. Whatever the reasons may be, certain it is, that group today is a milder ailment than it was thirty years ago.
The younger doctors who have never had experience with group seem unduly exercised over the danger of confusing it with diphtheria. There is in fact no danger of that.
In simple "catarrhal" or spasmodic group the child has a barking, hoarse cough toward evening, but is hardly sick enough to give up playing. In the middle of the night the attack comes on, a crowing wheezing intake of breath, which soon wakens the child and the parents; in severe cases this difficulty of breathing is distressing to witness, and sometimes the child becomes blue for want of air—lips, finger-nails; the child's voice is hoarse but not lost; where the breathing is very difficult the child soon shows weakness or prostration. The attack subsides—ALWAYS—and the child presently falls asleep. In the old days he was generally pretty well next day, and only toward dark did he begin to get ready to commence to stage a repetition of the performance the second night. Here is the great difference between spasmodic simple group and a grave illness like diphtheria—a child with diphtheria is sick, weak, prostrated from the beginning, and has no such complete relief following a spell of distress. The child with group is scarcely ill enough to go to bed; a child with diphtheria is ill and no mistake.
No child ever died of group. When the spasm of the larynx is so severe as to imperil breathing the child becomes faint and relaxed, and that relieves the spasm and the breathing at once becomes normal. This is a crude and cruel way to cure group, but it is Nature's way. Scrup of group is the time-honored medicine to produce a similar effect—relaxation of the spasm in the larynx. For this purpose a dose of a teaspoonful of the syrup of group is given to a child a year old, and repeated after 15 minutes if it fails to induce vomiting.
I have always, believed, from experience, that there was no better remedy to prevent and relieve the attack of group than cold moist air. If the night is a cold one, wrap the child in blankets and sit with him in your arms, in the window or out of doors for a while. The soothing influence of clear cold air is remarkable.
Another homely remedy which is useful not only in the relief of group but in the relief of any form of laryngitis or tracheitis (wind pipe inflammation) accompanied with much irritation or with hoarseness, is the cold compress—many folds of muslin wrung out of ice-cold water and kept on the front and sides of the neck for half an hour or longer, changing every few minutes.
I dare not risk typographical errors in the printing of formulas for medicines for group, but I will gladly send this information, in a special monograph on group, to any reader who asks for it (no clipping) and incloses stamped envelope bearing his address.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Oh, Oh, Girls, Listen To This.
The women of this country are divided into two classes, (1) those who after rising in the morning wash their face and hands, clean their nails, dress their hair and look neat before breakfast and (2) those who use dish cloths for hand or face towels and never look anything but frowzy. (J. W. H.)
Answer—I'm not saying a word. But I know a woman who, when she cares to be, is very attractive, yet she neglects her personal appearance and worries constantly about her husband's interest in another woman who can't hold a candle to her, but the other woman always appears neatly dressed and dolled up. Men are such brutes!
Auto Know Better.
My 10 year old boy has just had auto-intoxication in the intestinal tract. Every so often he seems bothered with it. What is the cause of it? Does he lack calcium? What foods contain calcium? (A. P.)
Answer—Suppose I auto know better, but the truth is I don't know what auto-intoxication means unless it is a kind of flivver complaint, in disguise. In the old days of free almanacs liver trouble covered pretty nearly whatever ailed the customer. I can tell you the best foods for calcium—fresh milk, fresh eggs, all kinds of cheese, raisins, oranges or orange juice, beans, peas, turnips, celery and the leafy relatives.
Sensikness.
I thank you for a roach remedy and would like to have your monograph on vitamins and wish your prevention of seasickness and I wish to take an ocean trip. (Mrs. N. M. K.)
Answer—I am mailing the monograph on vitamins and my method of preventing seasickness.
A Slave Set Free.
I want to thank you for your flaxseed treatment for the habit of constipation. It not only works, but one does not have to keep it up. You can't realize the difference in my appearance and my pep since I made the acquaintance of flaxseeds. (H. F.)
Answer—I am glad to know you are free. Almost all victims of the habit may be set free if they really wish to be. I have no cure for constipation. I merely offer advice for correcting a habit, and I offer it only to the correspondent who tells me he has the habit.

Seen And Heard In New York
BY RICHARD MASSOCK
New York—It wouldn't be New York without:
West Point boys in gray capes on the streets at week-ends.
Musicians around the orchestra-rehearsal rooms of Broadway, collegiate in raccoon coats and toting megaphones.
The sudden standstill of traffic when a fire siren screams.
The Brooklyn navy yard, with a cluster of low, gray warships at anchor.
St. Bartholomew's church on Park avenue, one of the architectural beauties.
Telescope men offering a view of Venus for a dime.
Expensive Fifth avenue hat shops. Someone named Gould.
Artists hovering around the galleries of Fifty-seventh street.
Broadway producers figuring on the Hotel Astor tablecloths.
House Kinks Build.
Even casual sales attract the town's intrepid celebrity hunters. Not that one is apt to see a celebrity at the sale, although that sometimes happens. It's the property of notables that packs the people in on occasions when the possessions of stage stars or other personages are under the hammer.
One of the most active weeks was that in which were sold the effects of William Faversham, the late Madam Walker and Charles V. Boh, who has a mountain named for him near the South Pole.
The contents of Madam Sarah J. Walker's $250,000 "Villa Lewaro" brought fancy prices. Madam Walker made more than a million out of a hair-straightener for Negroes.
Out of the profits from her kink-flattener, this one-time washer-woman of St. Louis filled her house with florid furniture and baubles, statuary, alabaster lamps, tapestries, oriental rugs, sets of finely bound books and a piano covered with gold-leaf. The furnishings cost $350,000.
The house is in the exclusive suburb of Irvington-on-the-Hudson and it was filled during the sale days with a curious throng, most of them whites.
The sale raised a mortgage off the mansion. It has long been a show place on the road up the Hudson, lined with fashionable finishing schools and great estates, the greatest of which is John D. Rockefeller's Pocantico Hills.
Madam Walker had her headquarters in Indianapolis. She built her stone palace in 1915 and died about two years afterward. Her daughter, Amelia Walker Wilson, is one of Harlem's outstanding social leaders.
Cantor Clubhouse
William Faversham sold his collection of antique furniture, paintings, silver, tapestries and old theater programs because he has moved into a Manhattan penthouse. Here the actor had no room for the collection that filled his large Long Island place.
Eddie Cantor also has given up his Long Island home. He is taking his five daughters and his wife to Beverly Hills, Calif., to live on talkie money.
Hill's Great Neck House is opposite the Lakeview Country club. It was said by neighbors that one couldn't tell which was which. It was also said that the comedian had a row of individual bathrooms for his five daughters, with a name on each door.
down south in Alabama; Tom Walsh was far out in Montana.
And in the 1928 presidential election President Hoover was 3,000 miles away in California. Al Smith was not as distant geographically, but very remote politically.
Speculators
The usual beginning made by Washington political speculators of this vast unofficial group was:
"What chance has George Norris?"
"Think Tom Heflin will come back in Alabama?"
"Galen can't beat Walsh in Montana, do you think?"
For they felt strongly that the political "ins" have a decided edge on the "outs" in any struggle, so it's a natural enough starting point.
And whether he be Mr. Hoover, George Norris, Tom Heflin—or who have you—the heated disputes that question can start, even in voteless Washington.
There is a growing sentiment against using X in the spelling of Christmas. But the dregs have always been fighting against the use of XXX in Christmas.

INCREASE NOTED IN PRODUCTION OF ICE CREAM, ICES

242,374,080 Gallons Valued at $288,615,467 Made Last Year

BY RUBY A. BLACK
(Post-Crescent Wash. Bureau)
Washington—“You scream and I'll scream, we'll all scream for ice cream.” So goes the song and so, apparently, goes this whole country.
More children ate ice cream cones,
or children ate more ice cream cones
last year than in 1927. And dainty, delicious parfaits topped with cherries topped off more society luncheons than two years before.

Increases were recorded in both
the quantity and value of ice cream,
ices and specialties manufactured
during 1929 compared with 1927, according to statistics obtained in the Census of Manufactures of 1930.

In 1929, 242,374,080 gallons of ice cream and ices valued at $288,615, 467 were manufactured compared with 226,852,987 valued at $282,720, 209. This is an increase in quantity of 6.8 per cent and of 2.1 per cent in value.

The 1929 total production was made up of 230,295,041 gallons of ice cream worth $272,039,919; 5,040,656
gallons of ice worth $5,851,460; 7, 038,388 gallons of specialties worth $10,724,038; and various other products worth $21,922,224.

In addition to this large total, ice cream was manufactured to some extent as a secondary product by establishments primarily interested in other manufactures. The value of ice cream so produced outside the industry proper amounted to $39, 653,389 in 1927 and has not yet been ascertained for 1929.

For purposes of the census, the ice cream industry includes establishments primarily engaged in manufacture of ice cream, water ices, sherbets, frappes, etc., but excludes these products when manufactured by hotels, restaurants or drug stores for use in their own business only.

The number of ice cream manufacturing establishments increased by 3.7 per cent during the two years, going from 2,961 in 1927 to 3,071 in 1929. However, the average number of wage earners and total wages paid per year decreased. There were 21,927 workers in 1927 and only 21, 524 in 1929, a decrease of 1.8 per cent. In 1927 the pay roll, not including salaried employees, totaled $23,107,615 compared with $22,530, 597 in 1929, a decrease of 1.7 per cent.

The cost of materials used in manufacture, such as containers for products, fuel and electric current, also decreased, going from $150,002,029 in 1927 to $148,370,444; while the total value of all products increased by 2.9 per cent, rising from $301,644,991
in 1927 to $310,537,691 in 1929. Of this value total in 1929, $21,922,224
was for products other than ice cream and ices, an increase of 15.8 per cent over 1927.

The value added to raw materials
by manufacture showed an increase of 7.4 per cent in two years. In 1927 it was $151,042,987 while in 1929 it equaled $162,167,247.

Finds No Traces Of Giant Race Reported In Mexico

Tucson, Ariz.—(AP)—Returning from a visit to the Yaqui river district of Sonora, Mexico, Dr. Byron Cummings, archaeologist, has announced failure to find evidence to substantiate the reported discovery of remains of an ancient race of giants.

Dr. Cummings, who is dean of the University of Arizona's department of archaeology, went to Soyopa, Sonora, a week ago to investigate a report attributed to J. El. Coler, mine operator that he had witnessed the excavation of skeletons of men eight feet tall.

Dr. Cummings said he found no evidence to support the story although he had excavated 13 skeletons from an ancient Indian burial ground.

"Every people throughout the ages has had its stories of giants," he said, "but they never have been substantiated scientifically."

"In our excavations we uncovered 13 skeletons, five of them adult males, the others women and children in what obviously is an ancient burial ground."

"The males ranged in height from 5 feet to 6 feet 6 inches—good sized Indians, but by no means gigantic.

The women were entirely normal in stature, the tallest being five feet ten inches. The children also appeared normal.

"The tribe evidently was an ancient one. They were long headed Indians, seeming to correspond closely to our early 'pithouse' people of Arizona, one of the early tribes which made its abode in pits in the earth."

"We found no pottery, hence these people were of a period before the manufacture of pottery began. There were some small shell ornaments,
several crude stone implements which evidently had been used in making ornaments and a few large sea shells from which the ornaments were made."

Dr. Cummings said no serious trouble was experienced with the present Indian inhabitants of the region.

"Of course, that is Yaqui country,"
he said, "but there are not many Yaquis there. The Indians are inclined to be bit excited, but we treated them calmly."

THROW OF CURIOUS TOO MUCH FOR WILBUR

Washington—(AP)—It's nice to keep the office door open to the world, but to have people sit and gaze at
you is something else.

This conclusion came to Secretary
Wilbur, who practices the open door principle at the interior department.
A comfortable chair in the anteroom commands a fine view of his desk. Idle persons just looking around found it a fine place to take a load off their feet and watch Wilbur work.

Instead of the secretary's large frame they can now gaze at the decorations of a small screen, which has been set squarely in front of the resting place.

old hog which weighed 291 pounds.

Time-Less Education Rests On Examinations--Wriston

"The success of the Chicago plan of time-less education, which involves the giving of degrees when the student is able to pass certain examinations, and not necessarily when he has completed four years of college work, appears to depend entirely upon the development of examinations of a high degree of reliability," Dr. Wriston, president of Lawrence college, said recently in commenting on the proposal.

"Under the present plan most colleges depend upon the results of 30 or 40 examinations supplemented by various types of written work, as well as by daily contacts, for determining who shall have a degree and to whom degrees shall be refused.
Obviously, the present system does not attach such serious consequences to temporary conditions as does the proposed system, and if the examinations are conducted with skill

and the results scientifically determined, the usual plan forms a better criterion of accomplishment than the results of a single examination or small group of examinations given at the end of several years of study."

"The art of examination is perhaps the least developed, and is certainly the least standardized among all the phases of the art of teaching. The Chicago plan is built upon the assumption that the art of examination is now sufficiently developed so that its results may be trusted."

Expense Is Heavy
"The expense involved in constructing examinations which must bear such a heavy responsibility is very great. It would require thousands of dollars and months of time to prepare an adequate set of exam-

nations, and it would add more difficulty to prepare many sets which might be used year after year, presented equal difficulty and reliability as measures of intellectual achievement."

"Moreover, the new system involves a number of problems with reference to the social and ethical development of the undergraduate.
The college exists primarily for intellectual training, but cannot neglect the training of character and the integration of personality. No system of examinations has yet been devised to measure these things, and only the impressions that come out of considerable experience and personal contact with the students justify a faculty in placing approval
on them in these respects."

"It is not at all likely that very many students will earn their degrees in a brief time. It is perhaps not generally understood that a not inconsiderable number of students
now earn degrees in less than four years. Those who have good intelligence and are unusually well prepared may do so, but it involves a strain which many ought not to in-

cur. The new system eliminates the necessity of taking subjects in which a student is already proficient, but most colleges are already doing that to a considerable extent.
"The new system represents an objective toward which all educational institutions are striving,
namely a more accurate scientific measure of achievement as a basis for a degree. Only by constant experimentation in education, as in science or any other field, can we ultimately arrive at an ideal system. Therefore educators generally will welcome this experiment and watch to see what may profitably be drawn from it for the service of other institutions."

All-College Formal Set For Friday

Dancing Party Will Take Place in Old Gymnasium on Campus

THE first all-college formal dance to be held at Lawrence college in 12 years will take place at the old gymnasium Friday evening. Formal dress is not required but it is expected that a majority of the students will appear in formal attire. Decorations and programs will be formal, according to Miss Esther Schauer, chairman of the party.

The gymnasium will be banked with cedar and evergreen boughs and decorated Christmas trees, and colored flood and spot lights will create a festive atmosphere. Clem Schmeisler's orchestra from Sheboygan will play. Alumni of the college are invited.

Beta Sigma Phi fraternity played Santa Claus to about 20 needy boys of Appleton yesterday evening at the fraternity house on E. Johnson-st. The youngsters were called for at their home by a chartered bus and taken to the chapter house, where they were treated to a dinner. Old St. Nick presented them with a bag of fruit, apples and Christmas candy and nuts. Each lad also was given a pair of woolen mittens and a toy, and after listening to a story told by Mrs. F. T. Cloak and singing Christmas songs with the fraternity members, was returned to his home.

Lawrence college freshmen boys will be the guests of Miss Mida Naylor, matron of Brookway hall, at a Christmas party at the boys' dormitory tonight. A special Christmas dinner and holiday program has been arranged by Daniel Moe, social chairman of Brookway hall, and Santa Claus will be present to distribute gifts. The feature event will be the championship checker match between Milton Kuehler and John Keating with a silver loving cup at stake.

Give Short Rest Periods To Children

BY ANGELO PATRI
It is hard for children to hold their minds on a task for any length of time. It is very trying for their active young bodies to be obliged to sit quietly and study for the long school session. A period of work, of sitting still and listening, must be followed by a period of activity. Some relief to the weary nerves and muscles must be offered or there will be trouble.

The younger children ought to be given a short free recess in the morning session. If the conditions permit the children should run freely about and shout as loud as they wish. The loud shout is the expression of the lungs for expansion and fresh air, of the strained muscles and aching nerves for change of posture relief from pressure. It is not wise to ask a class of little children to play quietly, to walk on tiptoe, to have a game of tag without making a sound. Noise goes with healthy play. Forbid the joyful shout and you kill the play.

You will notice that when the children do their home work they concentrate on a task and work steadily in silence for a time. Once the hard example is done, or the paragraph written, there is a joyful shout of some sort. The child will stretch and yawn, move about, tell a story about something that happened that day, laugh and chat until either his sense of duty calls him back to work, or somebody reminds him of it. That little recess is necessary. Deprive him of those few minutes' complete relaxations and you deprive him of the power necessary for the remainder of the job.

Often a child practicing a music lesson will toll faithfully on a difficult passage, get it fairly well and break it to trills and runs and round-els, some sort of joyful noise. Take that as part of the scheme. If the child after such a break gets down to the work again, console yourself that it is well. Should he insist on drumming and improvising without any show of interest in the task at hand, he is plainly avoiding the unpleasant drudgery. Remind him to go ahead with the lesson. Work must precede any shout of relief, any recreational exercise.

Some children grow so tense about a lesson that they forget to stop. On and on, lesson after lesson, they work until bedtime without pause. That is not good. The child will be too weary to sleep well and that means that he starts to school the next day with a tired body and muddled mind. Watch such a child, and when you see he has reached a good stopping place speak to him, call his attention away for a minute give him a lemon drop, if he likes them, or an apple, a cookie, some little pleasant interlude between tasks.

The other sort of child works a few minutes, stops to sharpen a pencil, to hunt for the right kind of paper, to find a book he suddenly discovers he needs, to ask if he can go to the entertainment next month to announce that his shoes need mending, to berate his little sister for shaking the table. That child is dodging work and needs to be sent to a quiet room and held to his job.

All children need relief from work and this relief is usually expressed in some form of joyful shout. Don't stifle him, but try to see that honest work necessitates that shout. It is always a healthy sign. Lazy and idle children seldom indulge in it. (Copyright, 1930, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

PROTECT FACE AND LIPS FROM WINTERY WINDS

BY ALICIA HART

Wintery winds may whip roses into your cheeks but they are apt to dry and chap your face, if you do not care properly for your skin.

Keeping the bloom of soft texture and smooth surface on your face in winter time is no mean task. Sometimes it is harder than withstanding the drying summer zephyrs and the toll the hot sun takes.

First of all, prevention is far better than cure in the matter of chapped skins. Even an oily skin may chap, you know, if you are out in the cold long enough. And what with wintery sports so pleasurable, everyone is apt to be out long enough for chapping this winter.

If you have the kind of skin that chaps when you look outside and see it is freezing, then your circulation is, probably, very poor and you need a physician's advice on diet and exercise. If you are in excellent health and still your skin is tender and very sensitive to cold, never use warm water or soap on your face just before going out or when coming in or during the entire time it is chapped.

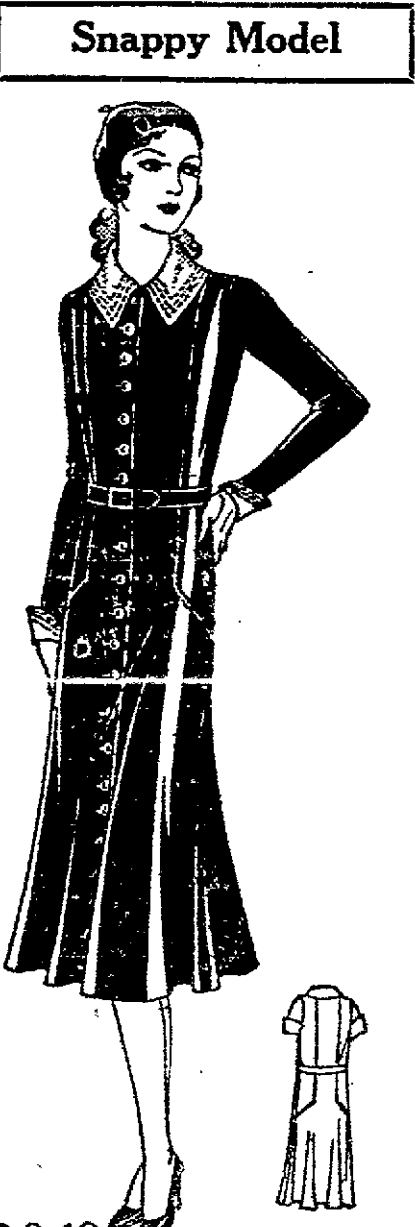

There are soothing, cleansing facial oils to replace soap and water. After coming in from outdoors, use one of these or a fine cleansing cream that softens as you rub it onto the flesh. Massage the face gently with the lubricant, in that rounding, upward movement I have described several times before. Up from the mouth, across the cheeks, curving around again at the portion near the temple.

This gentle massage, though it lasts only a few seconds, tends to hurry up good circulation and helps the skin to absorb the fat you are offering for its digestion. In no time at all you will feel your face relax from that stiff, drawn, "green persimmon" feeling you have had.

More than relaxing, this treatment is efficacious to prevent burning that follows exposure to severe cold. Do not wash your face after the oil, if it is not all absorbed, wipe your face gently with a soft piece of linen or face tissue.

At night, you have your fine chance to soften the skin, nourish it and get it in condition to withstand the cold air of tomorrow's outdoors. If you have not a bottle of face oil on your dressing table, at least get a sample bottle of one to keep for soothing it is. In no time, you will order a whole bottle!

Don't wait for chapping. Prevent it.

THE ROAD TO SUCCESS

"Dear Betty Brainerd: Your article 'Recognizing Opportunity' interested and stimulated me. I am writing in the hope that you may be able to give me some practical hints as how I can find or create that opportunity which I am seeking."

After six months I left, thinking I could advance more quickly in some other field, but so far I haven't even made a start.

The Story of Sue
by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

"I SUPPOSE I ought to count my blessings," Sarah reminded herself, and the impish laughter danced into her wide, dark eyes for a second and then was gone so suddenly she didn't know it had been there. "I have a job. I'm going to plug the switchboard. Well, I am glad."

But she couldn't make herself believe that she was.

"I haven't Pierrot now to comfort me, either," she mourned. "He's gone . . . and Ted . . . and Sue will be so wrapped up in Jack that I'll be part of the office furniture. But you did go to the ball, Sarah Slade, for a little while. You were an heiress with your picture in the paper and you had enough clothes to make you the queen of a fashion page. It's somebody else's turn. Maybe you'll catch the gilded ring the next time the merry-go-round goes around, and if you never do, think of all the people who never have a chance at it!"

She bathed her face, splashed clear, strong astringent against it until it glowed and burned. Then she patted in her most expensive powder, brushed her cheeks with rouge, and blushed her lips with a deep geranium color.

"I don't know for whom I'm dressing," she confessed to herself in the same half-mocking tone, as she slipped on a deep orange dress that held the mystery of flaming autumn leaves, a little frost-touched now. She snapper narrow black enamel bracelets about her slender wrists and found black suede pumps with very high heels. Then she sat down.

"I won't cry! I won't! I won't!" She kept repeating it. But another voice kept asking questions. "How will you put in all the lonely days? What if you never fall in love again? And never have your money back?"

"I'll go away. I'll leave town. I'll get a new job!" She jumped up and found a rust colored hat that was a little darling, and pulled it over her shining hair. Then she slipped into a short black fur coat whose collar made a deep frame for her face. She had picked up her gloves and pocketbook and was ready to go somewhere . . . when there was a knock at the door.

She opened it mechanically.

"Ted!" Then she remembered that he didn't know what she had been thinking. "Oh, how lovely of you to come. Come right in." She was chattering, smiling, wondering what had brought him.

"It's mighty homelike, Sarah," she realized that she had forgotten to turn out the round flat lamps or look after the merry red fire that was flaming on the hearth by now, when she had started to leave.

"But you were going away, weren't you? I don't want to detain you."

"No, I wasn't," Sarah lied lightly, as girls have always lied. "I had just come back had hadn't taken off my coat."

"That fool office girl of ours is always getting mixed up on telephone calls," Ted explained easily, as he slipped out of his overcoat.

"I said to find out what anyone wanted who called and if it wasn't important I'd call later. She didn't even consult me . . . just asked me how soon I'd be through with my conference without mentioning your name . . . and I found it on my pad a few minutes ago."

"But how did you know it was important?" Sarah asked mischievously. She wondered how the heaviness could have gone away so quickly, so entirely, from her heart.

"Do you know any more foolish questions?" Ted countered, but his eyes and voice were steady and merry as they had been before . . .

She wouldn't think of Joan, she told herself. This was her hour, maybe her last hour.

COMMITTEE GOES OVER PLANS FOR NEW FIRE HOUSE

Proposals Will Be Submitted to Common Council Thursday Night

Neenah—Committees on parks, public buildings and fire department met Wednesday evening to consider plans for a new fire station and remodeling of the city hall, as authorized at the last meeting of the city council.

The most favored plan was submitted by an Oshkosh architect, providing for an expenditure of about $35,000. This plan will be submitted to the council Thursday evening for consideration.

The new building, according to these plans, will be of the same material as the present city hall, and will be built on the east side of the present building. The front would be one story, in height, set back 15 feet from the front line of the city hall to enable the fire apparatus to leave from the three stalls without interference. The rear part of the building will be two stories high and will afford sleeping quarters for the firemen. The rear will be storage space for the police, city nurses' car and the ambulance. A large door will be built in the south side.

Plans for remodeling the city hall call for converting the Dwyer side into rest rooms. In the rear, entering from the S. Commercial-st. side, will be the old timers' club rooms. The entire south half of the city hall will be for the police department, with large, roomy cells for both women and a private office for the chief, and an outer office. Entrance to the police station will be on S. Commercial-st.

FINK GIVES TALK ON SCHOOL GUIDANCE

Tells Rotary Club of Problems and Methods in Educational Work

Menasha—The scientific method, which has been employed to develop changes in commercial and industrial enterprises, is being used to make the same progress changes in education, Ray Fink, principal of Menasha high school, told Menasha Rotarians at the weekly meeting in Hotel Menasha Wednesday noon.

Guidance in the instruction of students from vocational, social and educational angles was explained. Prior to the new era in school activity, a student was given a set of courses and left to either succeed or fail in his attempt to master them. Under the newer method, individual differences are recognized and students lacking interests or failing along one line are given courses and suggestions suited for their particular needs, he pointed out.

Rather than merely consider a student incapable of mastering his courses, teachers make every effort to analyze the needs and interests to be considered.

BANK ROBBER TO PRISON FOR 15 TO 25 YEARS

Curtis Herferth Sentenced

Shiocton Hold-up

ceased there. When Officer Steidl learned that Herferth had been taken to New London he asked Chief Lueck to arrest him, but Herferth, learning that he was being sought, voluntarily presented himself at the police station where he again was examined and searched but the money, hid in his stocking, was not found. He won his release when a Shiocton man who said he saw the robbery declared Herferth was not the man.

Not Satisfied
Lappen, Officer Steidl and the district attorney, however, were not so easily convinced and Lappen and Steidl went to Northport, where Herferth made his home, to continue their investigation. Steidl went into Herferth's room in the Robert Swankton home where he found a key ring bearing the name of John Adams, Green Bay, from whom Herferth had stolen the car he was using. That convinced the officers that Herferth was their man and they again started a search which resulted in his arrest on a train at Clintonville. He was on his way to Elkhart.

At first Herferth denied his guilt despite the fact that he had about $178 in cash in his pocket, almost the exact amount of the loot — but when the district attorney showed him the keys he found in his room, Herferth immediately made a confession.

Herferth just smiled when the judge pronounced sentence. He had told prisoners at the county jail he was expecting about 15 years. Judge Berg told Herferth he had an exceptionally bad record for a man so young.

Herferth was paroled only last June from the state reformatory where he had been serving a term of from one to 10 years for a series of burglaries in Milwaukee stores. He said he committed the Shiocton holdup because he needed money to pay his bills in New London and Shiocton and he wanted to get enough funds to get to Milwaukee to join the navy.

AFFIRMATIVE DEBATEES MEET MARINETTE TEAM

Arrangements have been made for the Appleton high school affirmative debating team to compete with the Marinette negative team at Marinette Thursday. The question is on the chain stores.

The students on the affirmative team: first speaker, Jere Outman; second speaker, Vernon Beckman; third speaker, Norman Clapp. Each constructive speech will be ten minutes. Miss Mary Carrier is coach.

Busy Collegian

A "working student" is James Roosevelt, son of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York. This photograph was taken of him at his desk in an insurance company's offices in Boston, where he is employed as a clerk after his classes in Boston University. He is enrolled in the law school.

ASKS COMPENSATION FOR FINGER INJURY

Infection, resulting from a piece of steel which entered his finger while he was employed by the Garvey Weyenberg Construction company, caused a disability for which Gerald McHugh, 21, route 1, Kaukauna, sought compensation at hearing before an examiner for the Wisconsin Industrial commission at the courthouse Wednesday afternoon. McHugh said he was employed by the Appleton firm when the accident occurred.

Anna M. Kirk, 32, Chilton, asked compensation for a broken leg which she received when the car she was driving, owned by the Twin City Cleaners and Dyers, went into the ditch on Highway 10 between Neenah and Chilton. She claimed she was in the employ of the company when the accident happened.

Both cases arise under the Workmen's Compensation act.

WEDDING BELLS WILL RING FOR U. W. GRIDDER

Madison—(P)—Wedding bells are scheduled to ring for Milo Lubratovich, giant Serb who won the tackle berth on many honorary teams this year.

The Wisconsin tackle left Madison for San Francisco Monday where he will play in the annual East-West benefit game. After his departure his friends learned of his engagement to Lola Kjellgren, Rockford, Ill.

Miss Kjellgren attended the university for two years and has been a school teacher since June. Her fiancé's home is in Duluth, Minn.

RULING TO HAVE NO EFFECT ON DRY LAW

provided an alternative method or whether it exclusively refers to only one method, namely, constitutional conventions. Judge Clark seems to think that state legislatures do not have the power which a constitutional convention appears to have.

Difference In Word
If the tenth amendment had used the word "and" to describe the reservation of powers so that the language read that the powers are reserved "to the states and to the people" it might have been argued that constitutional conventions, namely, the method whereby the people themselves act, as well as the action of the state legislatures would be necessary. Since an alternative is provided all court decisions have been based theretofore on the theory that all the amendments hitherto adopted have been properly and legally ratified.

Ever since the prohibition problem was federalized by the eighteenth amendment there has been discussion as to methods whereby it could be modified and there is a school of thought which has consistently argued that constitutional conventions should be called in various states to pass upon the work of a national constitutional convention called for the very purpose of discussing amendments to the constitution or changes in existing amendments or articles.

The legislatures of two-thirds of the states can call such a national constitutional convention but the legislatures of three-fourths of the states of such a national convention must in turn be ratified either by the states or by conventions in three-fourths of the states or by conventions in three-fourths of the states depending upon which method may be proposed by a two-thirds vote of congress.

May Be Second Method
Every amendment to the constitution has been submitted by a two-thirds vote of congress and a definite method has been prescribed, namely, ratification by three-fourths of the legislatures. If may well be that a second alternative method would have been just as legal. But there is no doubt that the method actually followed is also legal. When one says there is no doubt it means of course that so far as the decisions of the higher courts are concerned and so far as anyone can tell by reading past decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States there is about as much chance of ever seeing Judge Clark's decision sustained as there is of having the Supreme Court of the United States decide that the United States government was intended by its farmers to be a limited monarchy instead of a republic.

The effect of Judge Clark's decision nevertheless will be to advertise the alternative method of amending the constitution, namely, the constitutional convention idea. The only objection urged against it is that such a convention if once assembled would not only discuss prohibition but all other suggestions for changing the federal constitution.

The fact remains that various legislatures have already passed resolutions favoring a constitutional convention and Judge Clark's decision will be viewed as encouragement of the constitutional convention idea. For even if the Supreme Court of the United States should hold that Judge

Clark was wrong and that the eighteenth amendment was properly ratified there is nothing to prevent the calling of a constitutional convention the adoption by that convention of a proposal to repeal the eighteenth amendment or modify it, and subsequently the acceptance of such proposals either by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states or by constitutional conventions called in three-fourths of the states for that specific purpose.

locked the Marble hall, the Stockholm house, the Ironwood house, the Blacksmith's, the Bessemer house and the Grand saloon, on prohibition law violation charges. The Eagle's Nest, Mercer, and Sam's Place, Saron, suffered similar actions.

Lawrence Basketball Squad Battles Alumni Quintet Tonight

REMMEL, ASHMAN, COOKE AND SLAVIC AMONG VETERANS

Varsity Squad Strengthened by Return of Ken Laird, Center, Forward

LAWRENCE college basketball team will get its second baptism of fire Thursday evening when it battles a team composed of Viking alumni at Alexander gymnasium. Last week the Blue and White varsity defeated the St. Norbert college team.

An unusually strong Viking alumni team has been recruited as opposition for the varsity. Among the players is Zeko Remmel, forward, Robbie Rasmussen, forward, Jerry Slavik, guard, Gib St. Mitchell, guard, Roger Ashman, center, Ossie Cooke, center, Allen Hoffman, forward, Nig Christoph, guard, and John Cincosky, guard.

Coach Denny will send the same squad against the Alumni that he used last week against St. Norbert. There will be one addition, Ken Laird, center and forward, who turned out for practice a few days ago after nursing a shoulder bruised during the grid season.

The starting lineup for Lawrence will probably find Biggers and Hall at forwards, Rafoth at center, Fischl and Vanderbloemen at guards. The reserve list of players has among others Laird, Schneller, Felts, Nohr, Gochneuer and Ford.

Only one game is scheduled and it will start at 7:30.

HOLD BOXING AND CAGE TOURNAMENTS

High School Intra Mural Program Will Get Underway After Holidays

Boxing and inter home room basketball will be started at Appleton high school after the holidays, according to Coach Joseph R. Shields. With five of the nine boxing titles left unclaimed because of graduation last spring, there promises to be plenty of excitement in the elimination bouts. The graduation champions are Orville Winters, heavyweight; Al Breitrick, light heavyweight; Leo Tilly, middleweight; John Reeve, junior lightweight; Meyer Gabriel, bantamweight.

Elmer Knuth, welterweight champion, Paul Wolfe, senior light weight champion, Joe Verrier, king of the featherweights, and Bob Carnes, flyweight, are expected to retain their titles.

Last year junior home room 311 carried off the home room basketball honors. Captains for the home room teams this year are Chet Cavert, Frank Dean, Roger Emeric, Glenn Hickbotham, Donald Huhn, Robert McCoy, Merrill Mohr, John Rechner, Bob Shannon, Bill VanNortwick, John Brager, Genard Hocker, Mark Jorgensen, Frank Manier, Bill Van Rytin, Clifford Bauer, John Bruyette, Sidney Dutcher, Harold Gramse, Gordon Hule, Robert Merrifield, George Packard, George Rooney, Bob Steffen, and Isadore Zussman.

PITT PANTHERS WIN FROM MARQUETTE U.

Milwaukee—(P)—Ahead only during the first few minutes of play, a seemingly befuddled Marquette University basketball team was defeated here last night by the smooth-working University of Pittsburgh five, 24 to 18.

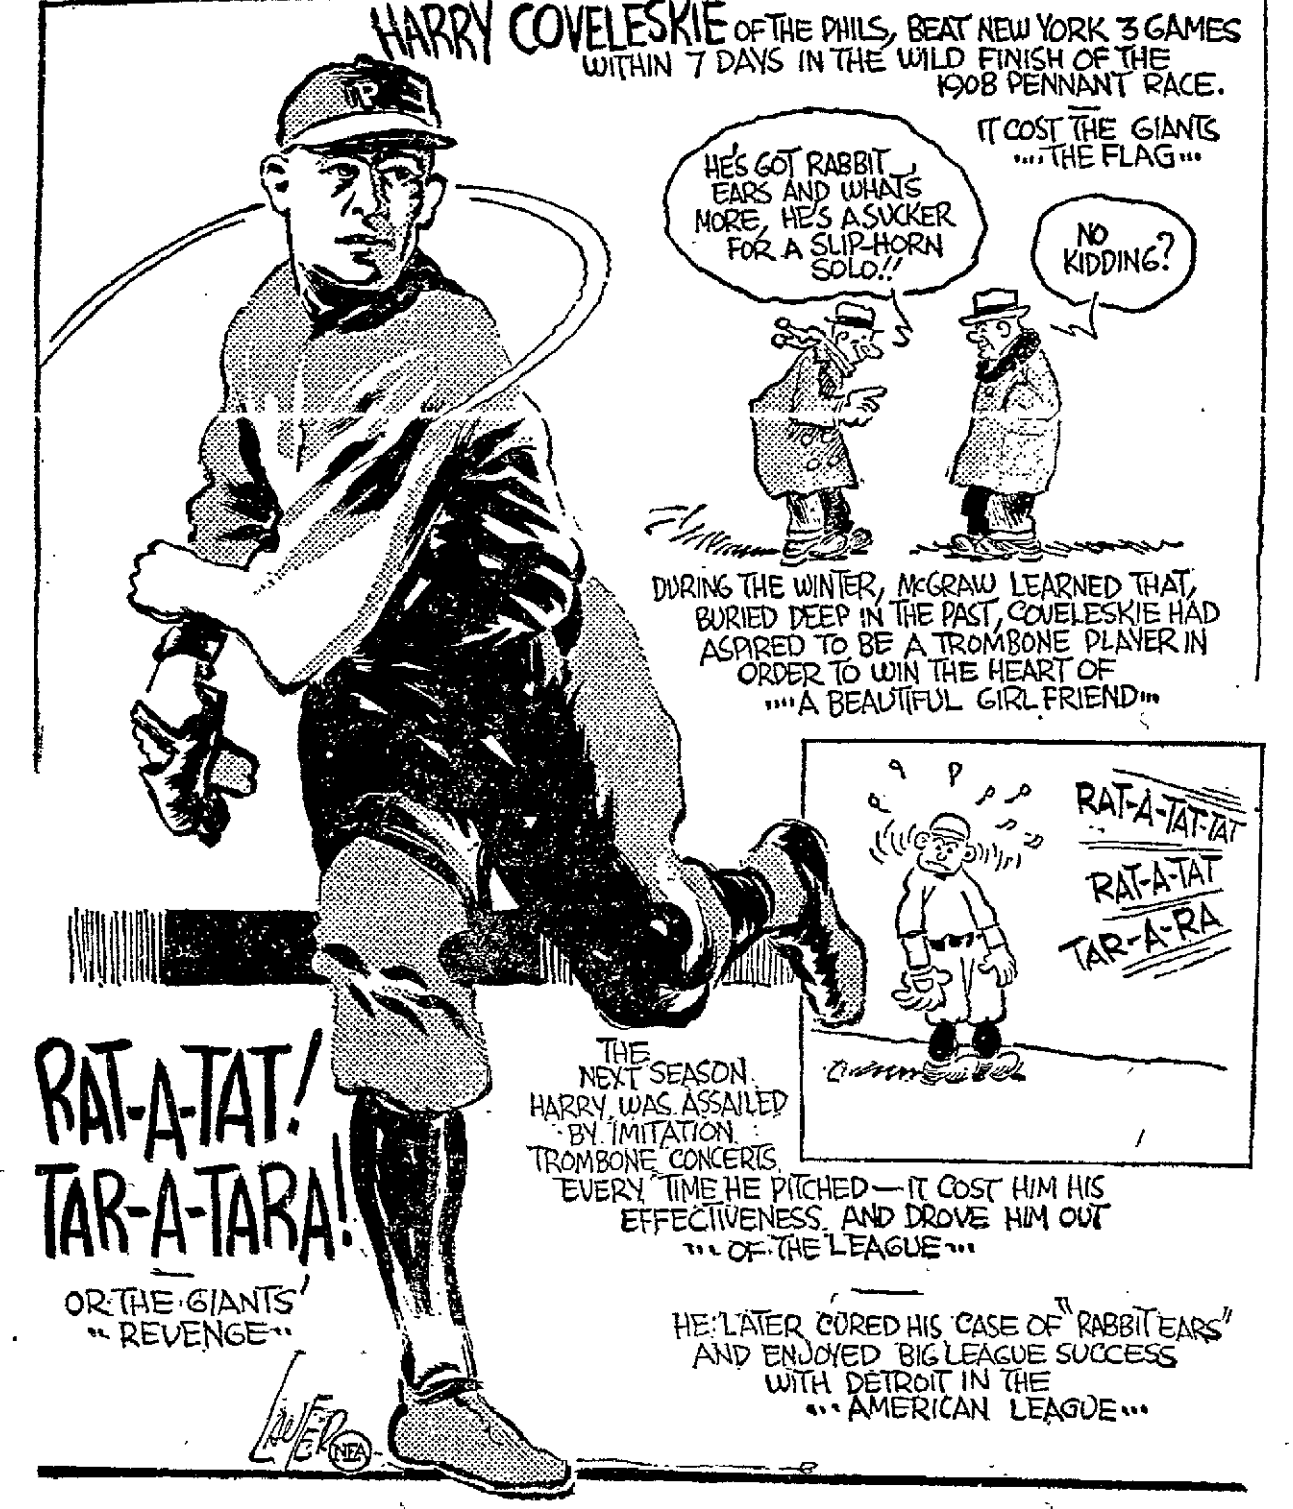

The Pitt Panther machine clicked regularly on both defensive and offensive play. The score standing 10 to 7 in the second half, the Panthers took a sudden spurge and shot the out 17 to in a few minutes. Marquette, taken by surprise, resorted to an individual game of long shots that netted few results.

M'GRAW WOULD TRADE, BUT NOT BEST PLAYERS

New York—(P)—Although he is looking for a good right handed pitcher and a capable outfielder, John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, can make no progress when he tries to discuss trades with his rival managers.

"No sooner do I mention trade," McGraw complained yesterday, "than the other fellows ask for Lindstrom or Jackson, and as I have no intention of trading any of our players of such calibre all further trade talk ends before it even gets started."

BRUSHING UP SPORTS ... By Laufer

Max Baer, Ernie Schaaf In Heavy Bout Tonight

BY WILBUR WOOD Copyright, 1930. RANGEBURG, N. Y. —(CPA)—After listening to Max Baer's discourse on what he would do to the heavyweights in general and Ernie Schaaf, in particular, the Californian's showing in his boxing drill at Orangeburg, recently was a trifle disappointing.

Max himself was far from pleased with his work. He walked around between rounds muttering to himself and occasionally finding fault with his helmet, the gloves and everything else.

Baer's first sparring partner was Pierre Charles, heavyweight champion of Europe. The Belgian had no difficulty tagging Max with left hooks and straight rights, and inside Baer showed that he still has much to learn.

After Charles had worked two rounds, Jack De Mave went in for two more, and was followed by Alfred Nokin, a rotund Belgian, with only a vague idea of what it is all about. Against these last two Baer plainly did not extend himself. In fact, he seemed all afternoon to be working on a defense.

It is likely that Baer is one who does not shape up so well in the gymnasium, where the big mittens are used. In fact, he declared himself on the subject. "These big gloves are no good," he roared. "Give me small gloves and a real fight, and I'll show you something."

Baer is a fine looking figure, with natural speed and footwork, but when he tries to be clever, he is not impressive. Though his arms are not large for a man of his size, he has a good reach and there appears to be a lot of power in his punches.

Max must be a puncher, for he has scored 110 knockdowns in 100 rounds of fighting, having had all his opponents, except Lee Kennedy, on the floor at least once. He is built much like Dempsey, with a shoulder spread of 39 inches and a 31-inch waist.

Perhaps as J. Hamilton Lorimer, his manager of record intimates, Baer is a trifle overtrained. He has worked much longer and harder in getting ready for Friday night's battle than ever before. Strangely, however, Max has put on weight since he left Stillman's gymnasium to go into camp at Gus Wilson's establishment. He weighs 198 now, having added four pounds in the last few days.

ROCKNE ARRIVES AT MAYO BROTHERS CLINIC

Rochester, Minn. —(P)—Knut Rockne, the master thinker of Notre Dame football, was at Mayo Brothers clinic today for a checkup and overhauling made necessary by the strain of the Irish drive to the 1930 national gridiron title.

Rockne was here a year ago for treatment of a leg infection which kept him inactive physically until last spring. He plans to go to a southern resort early in January for a long rest.

MURPHY TO COACH LOYOLA FRESHMEN

CHICAGO PROMOTERS STEP IN WHEN N. Y. COMMISSION GUMS UP WORKS

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK—(P)—A situation similar to the one which set off the first Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship fight to Philadelphia arose today as new complications were tossed in upon the edict of the New York State Athletic commission that Max Schmeling must agree within 15 days to defend his title against Jack Sharkey.

Following hard on the ultimatum, which apparently eliminated Young William Stribling from consideration, came an offer which brought the Georgian right back into the heavyweight picture. Nate Lewis, matchmaker of the Chicago Stadium, offered Schmeling $500,000 to defend his crown against Stribling in Chicago next spring.

But May Go West With promoters in general fighting shy of the proposed Sharkey-Schmeling bout just as they avoided the Dempsey-Willis battle demanded by New York's boxing solons five years ago, it seemed likely that the next heavyweight championship scrap would go west, again eliminating New York from consideration unless numerous compromises could be effected.

Lewis's offer was backed by telegraphic confirmation from Sidney N. Slovic, president of the Chicago Stadium corporation, and its success seemed more probable than any other plan proposed so far. Lewis plans to stage the fight in Soldier Field, Chicago, in June. He believes the gate receipts at a top price of $12, would run over $1,000,000. It was in Soldier Field where the seating capacity is over 100,000, that Dempsey and Tunney drew a $3,000,000 gate for their second battle.

Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager and recipient of the offer had a good many problems to consider before he could reply to the first half-million bid since the days of Tex Rickard. Schmeling is bound by contract to the Hearst milk fund committee here in June and this must be taken into consideration. If the commission edict stands, this battle must be against Sharkey but neither the committee nor the Madison Square Garden corporation appears interested in such a fight unless there is a preliminary tournament to stir up public interest.

Lewis offered to share 50 per cent of the proceeds with the milk fund and some Chicago charity, but the promoters of the charity show were inclined to turn a cold shoulder to the proposal yesterday. They preferred to do their own matchmaking, they said, and not share the proceeds.

In the face of the commission's insistence on Sharkey, however, this attitude may not last and the opinion was prevalent last night that the milk fund would join with Lewis in promoting the Chicago show. The boxing moguls may be persuaded to change their attitude but it will take considerable trouble. In 1926, it is remembered, they stuck to their guns in backing Willis and refused Dempsey a license to fight Tunney. This year they may prefer to stay behind Sharkey rather than suffer a possible loss of prestige through changing their stand.

HALF MILLION IS OFFERED MAX IF HE MEETS STRIBLING

Chicago Promoters Step in When N. Y. Commission Gums Up Works

CONSIDER NIGHT GRID GAMES FOR VALLEY SCHOOLS

Conference Officials Will Be Asked to Pass on Change at Next Meeting

NIGHT football for valley conference grid teams will be the subject of discussion when conference officials meet in January for their usual winter confab. None of the schools have played conference games at night thus far in their histories.

The possibility of night games long has been in the minds of valley school officials, it is said but no effort has been made to push the project to the front until its success was proven and until it became necessary.

Now, however, officials claim that grid fans in the various cities crowd around radio sets and listen to big games while the high schools play before empty seats. Too, a great number of fans weekly journey to Milwaukee, Chicago and Madison for games.

The drawback to night games is the cost of lighting equipment. Schools have found that really good equipment would cost about $5,000 and they wonder how long it will take to make up this amount.

Appleton high school, to install lighting equipment would, of course, have to get permission of Lawrence college. But that isn't the only object because school officials point out they would be abandoning late hours for students, and would be subjecting players to physical strain that hardly would wear off in time to permit the youngsters to get a good night's sleep.

The valley conference also will be asked to set starting time for Saturday grid games at 2 o'clock so the games will end before dusk. Games always have started at 2:30 here.

BADGERS DEDICATE NEW GYM TONIGHT

Meanwell Combination With Only Two Veterans Is Picked to Lose

Madison —(P)—It will not be just another basketball game when Pennsylvania meets Wisconsin tonight here, for the Badgers' beautiful new half million dollar field house will be formally dedicated.

An all-day program has been arranged to observe the successful conclusion of athletic director George Little's four year fight to build a field house for the Badgers.

As in many dedication ceremonies, the Badgers may take a beating from the veteran Pennsylvania five. Dr. Walter E. Meanwell Wisconsin coach, has only two veterans, Ted Chmielewski and Johnny Paul, and his new players have not been thoroughly tested. All of the 8,400 seats in the new plant have been sold.

One other Big Ten team, Illinois, will be in action tonight. The Illini, with two straight victories in pre-season games, will entertain the Washington University five from St. Louis.

PLAN INTRA MURAL SWIMMING AT H. S.

Although there will be no swimming team representing Appleton high school this year an intra mural swimming program similar to the one sponsored during recent years is being planned. Lack of money, the absence of a swimming coach and a high school pool are said to be reasons for not having a school swimming squad.

The annual intra mural swimming meet will be held sometime during the winter, the sophs, juniors and seniors to enter and represent their respective classes. Last year the juniors copped with the sophs second and seniors third.

Several high school students are members of the swimming team sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. They are Newman Johns, Harold Hauer, Clarence Dobbertin, Bob Carnes, Harold Gainer, and Edward Goodrich.

Chaff'n Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

JAY WYATT, the old-time Missouri star who headlined the Notre Dame-Southern California football game is back from the Pacific slope with a fund of stories on that famous encounter. Mr. Wyatt has been officiating in big games for many years but no player ever enthused him quite so much as Frank Carideo, the Irish quarterback.

"Carideo was the most capable quarterback I ever saw on a football field," declared Wyatt. "He was cold as a piece of tempered steel and never made a false move. I think it was Carideo who shattered the wall of Southern California. After the game I was in the Trojans' dressing rooms and heard one of the Southern California players remark: "What chance did we have with ten great football players and a coach on the field."

"When Carideo received the pass in the first quarter to run for a touchdown he absolutely waited on the ball," continued Wyatt. "And that was the first time I ever saw a pass receiver wait on the ball. But Notre Dame blocked just that well on the play. Late in the game when Notre Dame was well in the lead I once heard Carideo say to his team: 'Well what will we give them now?' The fellow is just a marvel."

Bobbie Rasmussen, Ray Tornow Get 7 Goals Apiece; Bankers Lose

COATED Paper company basketball team eked out a win over the Y. M. C. A. Bears in an industrial loop game Wednesday evening, the score being 19 and 18. The second game of the evening saw the Bankers drop a 23 to 20 decision to the Fox River Paper company team.

The game between the Coated quintet and the Bears was close from the opening to the closing whistle. The Paper team had a 7 to 5 margin at the end of the first half and then the clubs battled on even terms down to the last whistle which found the Bears trailing by a point.

Bobbie Rasmussen, formerly of Lawrence college basketball team and Ray Tornow staged a shooting duel in the Banker-Fox River game and Bobbie and his team, the Banks, lost because Tornow got a little help from some of his mates.

Razz hit the hoop for seven field goals and two free throws to win individual scoring honors, Tornow trailing by one free throw. However, the other four members of the Fox River team counted a couple points; and that gave the team the margin of victory.

CHICAGO BRUINS WILL NOT PLAY AT STADIUM

Chicago—(P)—The Chicago Bruins will remain in the American Professional Basketball league but will play the remainder of its home schedule in some place less expensive than the Stadium.

The Bruins played their last game in the Stadium last night, defeating Toledo 17 to 9, and George Halas, one of the principal stockholders, said the Broadway armory probably would be used for the rest of the season.

Saturday night's game with Toledo, scheduled for the Stadium, has been postponed.

PUBLIC TURNING ITS ATTENTION TO NEW INVESTMENTS

Dividend Checks, Liberty Bond Interest Turned Over to People

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Washington — Having cashed the dividend checks for approximately $150,000,000 sent them on Monday, received $80,000,000 interest from Liberty bonds and cashed in on the $480,000,000 in government securities which matured Monday and Tuesday, the attention of the people of the United States turned Wednesday toward purchase and investments.

Reports from all sections were to the effect that retail trade showed a decided spur, but it was in the investment field that the movement was most significant.

Some of the cash made available in mid-December undoubtedly will go into the new government securities just offered, which will pass through the hands of the bankers into the possession of the public in the next few days. But the larger part of the funds so invested will be from the coffers of the big estates. It will, in the opinion of conservative investment bankers, have less effect than the diversion of funds in smaller amounts into industrial, railroad, utility and other securities.

Infusion Is Needed

Such infusion of new capital is sorely needed. It probably will have more effect than the measures finally passed for drought and unemployment relief by congress, for it is a natural, not an artificial, stimulus to industrial and commercial activity. New security offerings for November were the lowest in several years and retail distribution of stocks and bonds by investment houses and dealers was also at a low level. The total of new offerings in November, including both bonds and stocks, was only $263,525,701. This compared with $500,903,497 in October. Public utility offerings held the place of honor with a total of $82,875,000.

Total security issues in the year to date amount to around $7,000,000,000, or 30 per cent less than for the corresponding period of 1929. This has meant, of course, a curtailment of operations, which naturally was reflected in smaller employment. The decline, according to the National Association of Manufacturers, has amounted to 14.2 per cent compared with normal years, while employment has dropped over 5 per cent since July, according to the bureau of labor statistics. What investment means to employment may be gathered by the figures of the interstate commerce commission, which show that railroad securities issued by authority of the commission amounted to $7,723,543,132.

This represented the tremendous program of the carriers in expansions, improvements and maintenance despite the fact that their revenues decreased. The programs involved hundreds of thousands of workmen.

Note the guard who accompanied him from the sanctuary of Fort Sao Joao to the boat. His government was overthrown in the recent Brazilian revolution and he was temporarily held a prisoner.

GARMENT FIRM STRIKE ENDED AT MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee — (AP) — The Fried-Ostermann garment company strike, which began July 24 when leather cutters walked out to protest a forthcoming wage cut, was settled by Circuit Judge Daniel W. Sullivan in a conference, he announced Wednesday.

The company's suit for an injunction against the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America and 140 strikers was the longest case on the calendars of Milwaukee courts this year, 22 days being spent in actual trial. Meantime, there were several cases in which workers at the factory claimed they were assaulted, charging striking men with the acts.

LIFE SPAN INCREASE IN STATE, IT APPEARS

Madison — (AP) — Thirty-five per cent of the 31,234 persons who died in Wisconsin in 1929 had reached "three score and ten," the bureau of vital statistics, state board of health, announced today.

Despite the low percentage it was a marked increase over that of 1920 when only 25 per cent of the state deaths were of persons 70 or more years old.

"Reduction of infant mortality and increased control of epidemic diseases have been the principal factors in lengthening the average life span," the bureau said.

Beloved Aztec God Of Air Gets Santa's Job In Mexico

Mexico City — (AP) — Santa Claus will have a substitute in Mexico this Christmas.

It will be Quetzalcoatl, legendary god of the air, who distributes toys to Mexican children in the future.

In years past Santa Claus has been on the job, but the government has decided it was too much of a tax on Saint Nick to expect him to visit all countries — so Quetzalcoatl was chosen as the most likely substitute.

Unlike Santa Claus, Quetzalcoatl needs no flying sled, for according to legend he has wings of his own. And when occasion demands he abandons his human form and becomes a serpent, feathered and with wings.

Aztec tradition has it that a kindly, white-bearded man appeared from the air centuries ago, before Europeans came to America and when the powerful Aztec race ruled Mexico.

He preached the doctrine of one god, the story goes, and after a short stay disappeared as mysteriously as he came.

The Aztecs, cherishing the memory of his visit, decided to perpetuate it, in the form of a stone idol and they gave the idol the most sacred and beloved form known to them—a winged serpent.

Delegation of Santa's powers to Quetzalcoatl, the government believes, will give the Christmas spirit more of a Mexican atmosphere and foster purely Mexican tradition among the Republic's children.

TWO MEN ARRESTED AS CATTLE THIEVES

Crown Point, Ind. — (AP) — Operations of a modern cattle rustler was revealed here Wednesday after the arrest of Stanley Brown, 30, and Alvin Hill, 25, Gary. Both are charged with participating in the theft of four Holsteins from the blooded herd of Frank Belker. Sheriff Joe Kyle declares they confessed stealing a truck belonging to another farmer, creeping up on the herd, choosing four of the best, loading them on the truck, and taking them to Chicago where the Holsteins were sold for $134.

NEW LONDON FIVE DEFEATS MARION BY 29-18 SCORE

Red and White Players Have Busy Time Turning Back Invaders

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The high school basketball squad had a busy time Wednesday evening against Marion. Although the locals won, 29 to 18, they were forced to work very hard minutes of the game. New London showed up remarkably well on defense with Marshall Ludwig the strongest at this phase of the game. The short passing of the team worked to perfection and Brown scored six field goals being high among the men. Jack Lacy of Marion kept pace with six baskets. Brown however, nosed him out with one extra free throw.

Brown started the scoring with one handed shot from the side of the floor and followed with two free throws. Westphal added one more point to end New London's scoring for the quarter. Jack Lacy heaved in two long throws to make the score 5-4. The locals opened up fast in the second quarter, when the team as a whole passed to work the ball under the basket where Brown dropped two through the hoop. Dernbach fouled a Marion man, who missed his chance, by hitting him for a short pot shot. This was Dernbach's only lapse of the evening.

The Baby twins changed places with Floyd, being immediately fouled, and adding a point on a free throw. Just before the half ended in a scramble under the basket Westphal's arms were the longest and he batted the ball in. Lacy made another one of his long shots while Krueger who was fouled by Ludwig, made a point on the free throw route. This left the score 12-9 at the end of the first half.

In the second half Fred Raby, Dernbach and Westphal in a one, two, three fashion added six points for the locals. This was almost the fastest scoring seen here for some time.

Both Marion and New London missed fouls, after which Lacy again dribbled through and scored a shot. Brown followed with a short pot shot which ended the scoring for the third quarter.

Coach Stacy sent in his substitutes and Marion promptly broke loose with two baskets. The regulars came back in again and by some pretty team work, Brown and Dernbach made a basket each as their share. Before the game ended Brown again came through while Lacy added one point for Marion on a foul and Pfeiffer completed the scoring when he grabbed Westphal's rebound off the board and tipped the ball through the net.

It isn't always easy to decide just what to buy Mother for Christmas. There's one good thing about it, though; the sales girl generally has some nice ideas, and she's always glad to share them with you and help you make your selection.

However, if you wait until the last day to do your shopping, the sales girl can't do you much good. She's rushed, then, and so are you. You buy something hit or miss—and often it's miss.

COCCIDIOSIS IS GAINING HOLD ON POULTRY FLOCKS

No Medical Treatment Found of Sufficient Value to Warrant Use

BY W. F. WINSEY
Intestinal worms and coccidiosis are gaining a foothold and doing considerable damage in the poultry flocks in this part of the state.

Usually the first symptom of coccidiosis noticed in chicks is the appearance of blood in the droppings which may vary in color from a slight red tinge to that of clear blood. Soon the chick becomes listless, its wings droop and its feathers become ruffled. Infected chicks do not move about much, but when they do, it is with a slow unsteady gait. Broods of chicks affected with coccidiosis are unthrifty and include stunted birds that never attain normal size. In some outbreaks of the slow or chronic form of the disease the losses are considerable, especially in half to full grown birds. In these the usual symptoms are gradual loss of flesh, pale comb, and paralysis affecting one or both legs. Not infrequently blindness also results from chronic coccidiosis. This form of the disease is usually a hangover from a previous attack. In the acute form the blindness comes in the form of the blindness pouches, and in some cases other portions of the body are filled with blood.

No medical treatment has yet been found of sufficient value to warrant its use. Consequently it is a waste of time to attempt to treat coccidiosis with drugs. The institution of sanitary methods is the only way which coccidiosis may be controlled. Such measures are also helpful in controlling other intestinal diseases of fowls. Since the soil readily becomes contaminated from the droppings of infected poultry, it is necessary, in order to prevent coccidiosis in growing chickens to keep them off ground that has been polluted by older birds. The problem of preventing infection of older birds is not so easy; but no means of control yet tried has given such promising results as ploughing and cropping the yards each year.

The symptoms shown by chickens infected with roundworms are not identical with the symptoms of tapeworm infestation, yet the two are so similar that for all practical purposes they may be considered the same.

Young Stock Suffers
The worst stages of intestinal worms are made in young stock from three to ten months of age. The first noticeable symptom is the gradual turning pale of the comb and wattles. If the birds are handled they will be found to be thin. As the disease progresses, the loss of flesh is more pronounced and a persistent diarrheal develops. A paralytic of one or both legs many times follows.

As most birds become infected by eating contaminated soil, or worms or slugs found in the soil, it is evident that these carriers must be avoided. The key note of prevention is to keep chicks off ground that has been polluted by older birds.

The problem of preventing infestation of older birds is not so easy but no means of control yet tried has given such promising results as

TWO MISSIONARIES ESCAPE FROM BANDITS

Honkong—(AP)—Extremely weak after harrowing experiences in the hands of a Chinese bandit gang who held them captive since Aug. 10, 1929, two German missionaries, Fischele and Walter, arrived here Wednesday.

From the time of their capture they were led, barefoot and unclad, from place to place in the hills between Fungangun and Kayungchow, and during the last three months they suffered many privations through forged marches while half starved and suffering with malaria.

Government troops were sent to release them but the bandits were continually on the move and threatened to shoot their captives if they troops came too close. At night time the missionaries were chained to the walls of their prison.

They said that they occasionally slept in caves and huts but more often in the open and always were guarded by armed bandits. Eventually they escaped through a Fungshun mandarin who bribed the guards to release their captives. They fled 50 miles arriving at Fungshun last night.

London—Waters in large London hotels are making collections of tabblecloths. The reason is that a few famous men on attending banquets and making speeches, have the habit of writing or marking on tablecloths. Waiters on removing there are careful to save them. They hope that the cloths will become valuable—like postcards from Bernard Shaw.

It is estimated that, within a year's time, the American aviation industry would be able to turn out between 1,000 and 5,000 military aircraft in emergency.

LOW STOCK PRICES BOLSTER FOOTING OF PRESENT MARKET

Present Listing of Many Issues Is Extravagantly
Low

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—(CPA)—
Some figures based on current prices
of stocks give a picture of the unreasonable fears today of holders of securities and the extent to which directions of what may happen to the United States has taken possession of them. They also indicate the extent to which liquidation and deflation in stocks has occurred, thereby putting a foundation under the stock market of greater stability than it has had in the past five years.

There are only 20 common stocks,
several of which are inactive, now trading among the 900 odd daily traded in on the New York stock exchange, which are selling above $100
a share. Several hundred were over this level last year. Scores ranged between $200 and $400 a share.

Nearly half of the active list of stocks is quoted below $20 a share.
Actually there are 450 issues in this category. A large percentage of these stocks are being offered at $10 a share and under. In fact, so many issues have dropped to such a low estate in point of market value that they have been eliminated from collateral loans. However, there are known to be cases where companies have more cash in the bank than is represented in the market price of their stocks on the exchange.

Bank Stocks Down
One prominent New York bank stock was quoted Wednesday at only about one-seventh of the price at which it was in great demand last year. Other local bank stocks are 1 from 50 per cent to 60 per cent. For the first time in the memory of the present generation, it is possible
now to buy New York bank stocks on a 5 per cent yield basis and at about their liquidating value.

The largest company of stockholders in any one corporate body
which has been increasing rapidly year by year, and which has regarded American Telephone & Telegraph
capital stock as America's premier investment. Within the last nine months this stock has dropped over 100 points, which means that the market value of the outstanding shares numbering nearly 18,000,000,
has depreciated over $1,750,000,000.
During this period the earnings of the company have been maintained
at approximately their 1929 level.

There are now about 160 active
New York stock exchange shares on which the current income return ranges from 10 to 17 per cent. In the majority of these stocks there has been no suggestion of a decrease in the dividend. There are between 50 and 60 others on which the return is from 15 to 20 per cent.

Return Way Up
In the second group there are a few candidates for dividend reductions but if the rate were reduced to the level suggested they would still yield over 10 per cent. Then there are a score or more that return from 20 per cent to 25 per cent. In some cases the yield on these stocks is well in excess of the market price of the stock.

Turning to the list of railroad shares whose average price is the lowest since 1924, one finds in this group, where assurance is given that dividends at present rates are to be continued well into 1931, yields ranging from 7 1/2 per cent to nearly 13 per cent. Such astonishing records are revealed as a price for Chicago & North Western common now lower than it has been in nearly half a century. No one questions the fact that the property investment in this road is not only double, but probably treble that of twenty-five years ago. Northern Pacific stock is selling at the lowest price in 30 years, in fact its current quotation is approximately the same as it was in the year of the Northern Pacific panic when it sold at $1,000 a share and was at about the same time at 452. Numerous instances exist where railroad stocks like New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio and Chesapeake & Ohio are all quoted lower than when their dividends were considerably smaller and when they were just emerging from the effects of the two year experiment with federal control.

Many more illustrations of the same sort might be given. It is believed that enough evidence has been presented to establish the fact that investors have been selling stocks the last few weeks at prices well below their actual values and that however much the prices of 1928 and 1929
may have been unwarranted, those now prevailing are as extravagantly
low as the others were ridiculously
high.

BULLET-PROOF CAGE
IN BANK AT MADISON
Madison—(CP)—A veritable fort has been constructed in the Commercial National bank here as a precaution against bank holdups.
A bullet-proof armor cage has been installed so that the expert marksmen who maintain the "fort" may have complete range of the lobby, tellers' cages and vault. Bank officials said the cage is impregnable against machine gun or rifle fire.

Sergeant Ludwig Lenzler, Co. G, Wisconsin National Guard, is stationed in the cage. As a supplement to this precaution, several employees are being trained under the direction of Sergeant Lenzler in the use of firearms.

DAY'S WAGES FOR POOR
Davenport, Iowa—(CP)—All employees of at least 25 Davenport business firms have agreed to donate their wages for one day each month
during the winter for the relief of unemployed here.
William Heuer, finance chairman
for the unemployment committee,
said the donations already total close to $30,000. The committee expects to receive enough other donations
to raise $50,000, he said.

The Manner Line, connecting the Pacific Northwest directly with eastern airlines, has suspended operations over its Spokane-St. Paul route.

The Barrymores Present —

Here we have the latest picture of the newest members of the famous Barrymore family—baby Dolores Ethel, daughter of John Barrymore and his wife, the former Dolores Costello. The picture, showing the baby and her parents, was taken as the Barrymores returned to Los Angeles on their yacht after a southern cruise.

Distinguished Bridegroom Proves To Be Ship's Clerk

Oxford, Mass.—(CP)—A romance that thrilled townsfolk here Monday
was crowned by its glitter today.
Local newspapers printed in detail
an account of the marriage of Miss Barbara Buffum, daughter of James
C. Buffum, bank cashier, to "Sir Wilton Harold Bramwell, a commander in the royal navy."

Today the former Miss Buffum
was missing and her parents expressed the opinion that she had been the victim of a hoax. Mr. Buffum said he understood that his new son-in-law was a chief steward's clerk on the liner Mauretania and was presumably aboard his ship in the high seas.

The bride left the church with the bridegroom immediately after the wedding ceremony, ostensibly on the way to a honeymoon at the "ces-tral home of the house of Bramwell" in Coventry, England.

Her name did not appear on the passenger list of the ship, and officials of the Cunard line said it was improbable that she was aboard, as only officers are permitted to take their wives to sea.

Mr. Bramwell said that at first he believed Bramwell to be all he had claimed. On the marriage license the groom's name was given as "Wilton Harold Bramwell, commander of the royal navy."

The wedding, an elaborate church affair, attended by local society folk,
was somewhat delayed, Bramwell explained the delay, saying he had been detained by immigration officials at Ellis Island on his way here.
A squad of motorcycle patrolmen
helped him rush to the church.

TOWN OF CENTER FARMERS MEET TO DISCUSS CO-OP

Sentiment Appears to Be Almost Unanimous for Joining Group

BY W. F. WINSEY

Two hundred farmers attended a dairy meeting in the town of Center hall Wednesday afternoon. Most of the farmers present were members of the Livestock Cooperative Shipping association of Center Valley and a number of them have been attending organization meetings of the Pure Milk Products Cooperative at New London, Nichols, Bear Creek, Clintonville and Shawano the past year.

The purpose of the meeting was to scatter information about the plans of the Pure Milk Products Cooperative among the other farmers and to discover whether the sentiment for marketing milk cooperatively is strong enough to warrant an attempt at local action. Appleton. A unanimous demand for an organization meeting later was made, and a committee was appointed to make a thorough study of the milk cooperative contract and to select a date for a meeting.

Members of the committee are Fred Piested, Oscar Breitung, Henry
Lilje, John Spears, Alfred Wirth, Leo Defferding, Gus Sedo, Fred Jenkel, and Louis Nichols.

Before the close of the meeting
and after the contract was explained by R. P. Ames, a fieldman of the state organization, a large number of the farmers crowded about the speaker's desk and wanted to sign contracts without further delay.

Plans Explained
The plan, purposes and accomplishments of the farmers' milk marketing cooperative supplying milk to Madison distributors were described by H. W. Witte, president of the cooperative and a representative of the state department of agriculture and markets. The Madison marketing cooperative, through its officers, meets the officers of the city distributors of milk and agrees on the price of the producers are to receive, according to Mr. Witte.

The plan of the Madison cooperative is similar to farmers' milk marketing cooperatives about other cities of Wisconsin.
While the farmer's price is based on the dairy conditions and is a matter of argument and bargaining, it is often determined by the relative strength of the arguing boards and is often a compromise, one board contending for a low farmer price
and the other for the highest price for the farmer that the business and margins will stand, he pointed out.

"So popular is the farmer cooperative plan of marketing milk for city consumption," said Witte, "that farmers in the Chicago milk producing district offer to pay as high as $1,500 for membership in the cooperative are considerably higher than is the rent on farm operated by non-members."

"If farmers were dealers in milk
they would buy milk for city consumption at the lowest possible
price and sell it at the highest possible price just as the dealers are now doing and you and I would be as helpless in that case as we are now because we are unorganized and are selling farm commodities single handed and competing with each other."

"Is selling farm products as individuals the way to make money?
To me it looks like the best way of losing money. Individual marketing will be the cause of many farmers losing their farms especially those who paid war prices for their farms."

FARMERS AROUND CITY WILL JOIN PURE MILK CO-OP

Committee Appointed to Investigate Contract of Organization

BY W. F. WINSEY

Two hundred farmers, supplying milk to all the plants and distributing centers of this city last night
decided to become members at once
of the Pure Milk Products Cooperative, a farmer-owned and farmer-controlled cooperative for marketing milk. So interested were they in the movement that they came to the meeting at 8 o'clock and remained until 12 o'clock. A general demand was apparent to sign the five year contract at once so that the cooperative might begin operation without delay.

Instead of signing the contracts,
however, the farmers appointed a committee to make a farther study of the cooperative, one member to deliver his milk to one milk plant in Appleton and another to another plant. The committee is to report at a mass meeting in the court house at 1:30 Saturday afternoon,
Jan. 3, when each farmer will be given an opportunity to sign a contract. H. W. Witte, R. P. Ames who with Gus Sedo, county agent, spoke last night, will be present at the next meeting. Mr. Witte is the president of farmers' cooperative supplying milk for city consumption to the milk dealers of Madison, and is representing the state department of agriculture and markets. Mr. Ames is the fieldman for the Pure Milk Producers' Cooperative.

The members of the investigating committee are Frank Reimer, chairman, John Paltzer, Phil Bixby, Alfred Krueger, Robert Winters, Frank Paltzer, James McGinn, Frank
Paul, George Foley, George Dietz,
August Schroeder, Edward Eardy,
George Schmitt, Edward Zeh, Martin Van Handel, and Paul Tank. The committee will study plans, purposes
and contract of the cooperative.

Other Meetings Planned
After the next meeting similar meetings will be held in townships about Appleton not covered by the New London, Nichols and Clintonville locals of the Pure Milk Producers' Cooperative.

The first thing that a local of the cooperative does after a 60 per cent
membership of milk producers is obtained is to install a man in the milk-receiving plant to check tests and weights for the farmers. The next move is the exercising of bargaining power with agents or price-fixing boards of the milk plants and receiving stations. The third step is to dispose of milk in the best market. In all these movements a local will be assisted by the state department of agriculture and markets, the farm marketing department of the federal government, and the extension service of both state and nation.

A checker of weights and tests has been installed in the Borden plant in New London, and another will be installed in the Borden milk plant at Nichols on Jan. 1.

The salaries of the checkers of weights and tests is paid by a two cent check off from each hundred pounds of milk delivered to plant as well as other expenses of a local.
Two dollars of the five year initiation fee goes to the state organization and one dollar remains in the local treasury. The five year contract is required to give the cooperative stability and durability. The cooperative covers the handling of milk delivered to creameries, condensaries, and city distributing plants.

NO CHANGE IN TIME FOR PAYING TAXES

Small Taxpayer Suffers Little Inconvenience from January Payments

Reasons for the council decision
to set a 1 per cent penalty on taxes collected during February were reiterated by Alderman George Packard, chairman of the finance committee, at the meeting of the common council Wednesday night, in an attempt to answer the queries of tax payers who feel that this restriction is out of line with the attempts to relieve the depressed economic conditions.

He explained that the small fee
has little effect upon the small taxpayer, the man whose taxes amount to $100 or $150. One per cent in cases like this would amount to only $1 or $1.50. Further, the small taxpayer, he said, is the man who usually pays his taxes in January. On the other hand, the 1 per cent fee will amount to a considerable sum with the larger industries, and it is expected that it will induce them to pay during the first month, giving the city the use of money it might not otherwise get until March.

2,500 STATE WORKERS RECEIVE ADVANCE PAY

Madison—(CP)—More than 2500
state employees were given two-weeks
salary in advance by State Treasurer Solomon Levitan today so that they might do their Christmas shopping.
Approximately $300,000 was paid out by the treasurer. A reporter suggested that such a practice might be dangerous; that some of the employees might die before Dec. 28
when the December checks are usually mailed.

"Nobody ever died from happiness," Mr. Levitan countered.

"OUT OF TRENCHES BY CHRISTMAS," IS CRY OF SPANIARDS

Madrid—(CP)—Spain's foreign lo-gion, patrolling the cold streets of the northern cities where strikes
continued today, have reached back across the years and found a slogan for themselves.

"Out of the trenches by Christmas," they are saying to each other,
reminding themselves that with the declaration of martial law last week,
all furloughs were cancelled.

Nobody knows how long martial law is to continue, although the government maintains that the danger
is definitely over, and the soldiers
beginning to worry about their holidays.

Their attitude is typical of that of the man in the street. The general strike appeared to be breaking down and thousands of workmen
had returned to their jobs this morning. Spain was still unsettled and business was pretty bad generally,
but the authorities were confident that the worst was over.

The most serious casualty of the whole movement, in one sense, was General Damazo Berenguer himself who remained under his doctor's care today recovering from an illness
variously described as a severe case of tonsillitis and sheer physical collapse. He was conducting his business from his bedroom today and his condition was not regarded as serious.

Another indication of the feelings of the people was the inauguration of a popular subscription to reward
the civil guards and federal troops whose loyalty defeated the revolutionists. The fund had reached half a million pesetas (60 normal times about $55,000) last night.

TAX CERTIFICATE ROW SETTLED AT HAYWARD

Hayward—(CP)—Through settlement out of court the county will receive $4,800 instead of $1,000 from the Wise and Beaudette company for tax certificates on the Grindstone lake subdivision. The county, through a taxpayer, brought suit against the firm for withholding tax payments by persons who had purchased lots from the company.

The old county board was completely wiped out at the last election
as the result of the discovery that it had accepted the $1,000 tax settlement from the company after being entertained at a roadhouse.

Under the settlement, the county will keep the $1,000 and $3,220 paid
the county treasurer directly by lot owners and the real estate firm will pay the county $582 it received as tax payments.

$260,000. It will be two stories high

WETS GAIN HEAVILY IN MASSACHUSETTS, REFERENDA PROVE

Little Change in Sentiment in Illinois Since 1922 Indicated

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

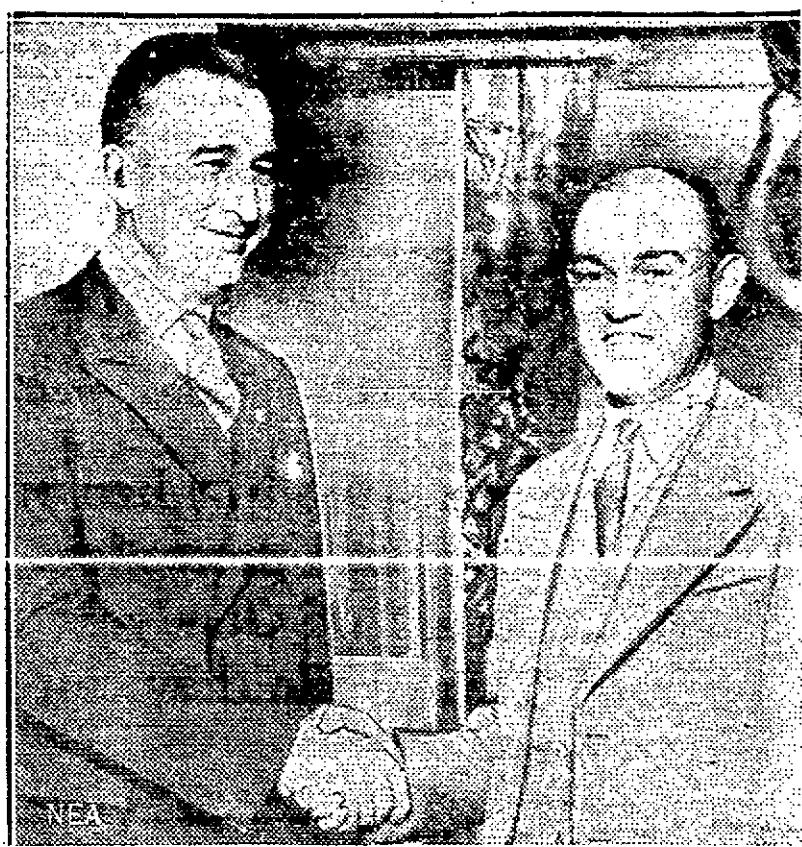

Washington—This is an attempt to analyze the results of the three wet-dry referendum held in the November election by Illinois, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

The attempt has become possible with the recent compilation of complete figures by the secretary of state of Illinois. Scientific determination of the relative importance of various factors which cause a given election result is impossible—except for historians. But those referenda, dealing only with the specific issue, presumably are more accurate barometers of popular sentiment than the majorities of wet or dry candidates which obviously were affected by other issues.

Illinois voted on three propositions. It cast 1,054,000 votes for repeal of the 18th amendment and 551,000 against; 968,000 for modification of the Volstead act and 506,000 against; 1,060,000 for repeal of the state enforcement act and 523,000 against.

On the basis of those figures alone it may be suggested that in Illinois there is a distinct wet-dry cleavage between those who favor repeal and those who want to keep both the federal amendment and the Volstead act intact. There may be 45,000 dries who would favor modification but not repeal, but repeal got 86,000 more votes than modification. On both ends the extremists

Now They Know Who's Governor

More than a month after the election, the state of Kansas has just learned who its next governor will be, an official count in an extremely close election having finally given the victory to Harry Woodring of Neodesha, Kan. Governor-elect Woodring is shown at the right receiving congratulations from his opponent, Frank Hauke of Council Grove, whom he beat by 251 votes. Both men are past department commanders of the American Legion, and this picture was taken when they met at a state officers' convention in Wichita.

appear to have been far more numerous than the middle-ground or modification group.

Many Ignored Referenda
You can do whatever you like with the fact that the total Illinois vote was 2,332,000, or 728,000 fewer than the largest total vote on any of the wet-dry propositions. There is always a large group of voters which ignore referenda and vote only on candidates. There must also have been many in Illinois who voted on only one or two of the three wet-dry questions. Now, compare the 1930 Illinois referendum with those of 1922 and 1926. In 1922 the state voted 1,165,242 for light wines and beer to 512,111 against. In 1926 there was a vote of 840,000 in favor of permitting states to fix legal alcoholic content of beverages and 558,000 against.

Thus, in five votes, dry strength has ranged between 506,000 and 556,000 and wet strength between 1,054,000—assuming the 1930 repeal vote to be more indicative than the 1930 modification vote—1,165,000. But whereas the vote against 18th amendment repeal this year was virtually as large as the high dry vote of 1926, the largest wet vote in 1930 was 100,000 less than the wet vote of 1922. And the anti-light wines and beer vote of 1922 was not appreciably smaller than the anti-modification vote of 1930.

Shows Little Change
Whatever these comparisons prove, if anything, they do not appear to indicate any tremendous growth of wet sentiment or any great weakening of dry sentiment. There seems more nourishment in the idea that wet voters were more willing to vote for wet candidates regardless of party lines, for wet Democratic Senator-elect Lewis defeated moist Republican Mrs. McCormick by something like 1,400,000 to 700,000 while the independent dry candidate had less than 200,000. Although Illinois had voted wet before, she had always been glad to elect dry Republicans.

Comparison is easier in the Massachusetts vote to repeal the "Baby Volstead" state enforcement act—642,000 to 367,000. In 1924 the Bay State voted for that act by 454,000 to 448,000, so a very important change of sentiment in the six-year period appears to have been signified. The dry vote fell off by $7,000 and the wet vote gained nearly 200,000.

Largest Vote in 1928
Massachusetts had voted 427,000 to 323,000 against putting the 18th amendment into effect there in 1922 and in 1928 cast her largest wet-dry vote—707,000 asking state senators to call on Congress to repeal the 18th amendment and 422,000 against with 310,000 votes casting no ballot on the question.

Wet Democratic Senator-elect Marcus Coolidge beat the dry Republican Butler in Massachusetts this year by about 670,000 to 550,000. The total wet vote was almost as large as the Coolidge vote, but the Butler vote was far ahead of the dry vote, with the referendum vote

Your Birthday

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU
"SAGITTARIUS"

If December 19th is your birthday, the most propitious hours for you are from 7 a. m. to 9 a. m., from noon to 2 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. Those of an adverse tendency are from 10:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. and from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m.

December 19th will prove to be a good time for the initiation of fresh enterprise and the creation of new interests. The signs denote, too, that sports will be favored, and, in nearly all branches of work or play, there will be experienced an urge to forge ahead.

A child born on this December

somewhere around 200,000 less than the senatorial vote.

Rhode Island voted 172,000 to 45,000 against retention of the 18th amendment—about 7 to 2 wet, compared with 2 to 1 in Illinois and rather less than 2 to 1 in Massachusetts. It was Rhode Island's first referendum and both her senatorial candidates were wet.

19th will, for some time after birth, be disappointing. As time goes on it will acquire robustness and its intellectual development promises to be very marked, whilst its disposition will be affectionate and sympathetic.

Your judgment is very sound, and lack of impulsiveness will always prevent you doing regrettable things or saying things which had better be left unsaid. At all times you are cool and collected. In the ordinary affairs of life, you never lose your head, and, in times of stress, you inspire others to keep their. You do a powerful lot of thinking, and then express your thoughts in well-considered, but laconic, speech. You are neither inquisitive, nor are you very communicative. You possess, too, the happy faculty of minding your own business, and letting other people mind theirs.

The emotional side of your character is a strong one, and your passions are deep seated. You rarely lose your temper, although, when annoyed, your remarks leave worse mental scars than those caused physically. Self-confident and sure of yourself, you are neither vain nor pretentious. Loyalty to the obligations of friendship is another valuable asset in your "make-up," and no friend will ever be let down by you. Great sympathy to those who are tied to you by relationship is not considered by you as a virtue. You practise it because it is part of your nature to do so.

The signs denote that your life will be crowned with success, and that those who really know you will benefit from their association with you.

STATE POLICE TO AID SHERIFFS IN SPECIAL DUTIES

Plan Is Not Attempt to Establish Constabulary,
Worker Says

Madison—The state police system to be offered at the coming legislative session will in no regard be an attempt to establish a state constabulary, but will seek to complement the work already being done by sheriff and police forces, according to Aubrey Williams, general secretary of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work.

The bureau, whose services would be available for assistance to local law enforcement agencies but not acting as a check upon those agencies, would be nonpolitical, although established under an already existing board, such as a separate board established for that purpose.

Trained crime investigators would analyze situations and suggest action to several stations in various parts of the state. Conducting a central record bureau of crime detection would also be part of the bureau's duty.

Crime Highly Organized

Lastly the bureau would be prohibited from having anything to do with any kind of labor controversy, expression of opinion, or the whole field coming under the general term, "maintenance of order."

"There can be little doubt that organized crime is fast establishing itself in Wisconsin, and it can only be combatted successfully through organized methods," Mr. Williams said. "The present and hopeless inadequate local machinery for combating crime must cooperate with a state bureau of experts in crime detection if the necessary progress is to be made."

Sheriff Not a Detective

Mr. Williams pointed out that until recently a sheriff could hold office only one term, and he is usually selected on the basis of his being a politically deserving man. A sheriff is not a detective—he has no duty to perform as a detective according to statutes.

Regarding the organization, the working machinery of a state bureau for the apprehension and detection of criminals, Mr. Williams explained that one central station would be established, perhaps at Waupun, which would have at its fingertips a criminal library including all sorts of identification records and records of known criminals. District branches of this main office would be created in various parts of the state, Green Bay, La Crosse, Superior and Beloit, for example.

Would Request Help

All action on the part of the bureau and its branches would be at the request, of local officials, since the bureau would exercise no state control over the local groups. In the event of a crime committed in any part of the state and the request for assistance made by local authorities, the most accurate news obtainable would be under the central station from which details of the crime and the suspect would be flashed, it is hoped, by radio, to the district outposts. Squads of police officers armed with high powered cars, precise information, and artillery would snap into action, according to Mr. Williams.

Under the proposed system it is believed a criminal would have a relatively slight chance to get away. In Chicago a murderer has a 16 to 1 chance of not being captured. In New York his chances of getting away are 13 to 1. In London the chances are 10 to 1 that he will be apprehended.

With perhaps the second most efficient detective system operating at the present time, Milwaukee police are able to apprehend criminals with amazing rapidity. That is why few major crimes are committed in Wisconsin's metropolis, it is claimed.

FORMER GILLET CAR
DEALER IS ARRESTED

Oconto—(P)—Charged with selling automobiles on forged and counterfeit contracts, Ben Eschner, former Gillett, Wis., auto dealer was held in county jail for want of $3,000 bond. He was arrested in Milwaukee, after being missing since November. A motors acceptance corporation financing the sale of automobiles is one of the complainants.

Eschner is charged with forging the name "John Miller" on a sales contract, on which he obtained money from the motors acceptance firm. He told the sheriff here he obtained the signature from "Miller's" brother. He said he had left here and traveled to California and Mexico only because times were slack, for his work, and because he expected to obtain a considerable sum of money from a wealthy uncle in California. This money is still expected, possibly within two weeks he said.

Always have Peterson's Ointment on hand. Can't beat it for quickly healing chafed, irritated, erupted skin, for eczema and bad cases of pimples and blackheads.

H. A. Daniels of Hartford, Conn., writes: "For 6 months I was bothered with Eczema—it would itch so I could tear it to pieces. I had lotions and different Ointments which did no good. I saw your ad in the Hartford Times and I went and got a box of Peterson's and in one night it almost disappeared."

The mighty healing power of Peterson's Ointment overcomes Eczema and one 35c box will prove it — all Augustore, adv.

Rich, Poor Prepare For Celebration Of Yuletide

The Hoovers, the Rockefeller's and the plain old Joneses are preparing their annual Christmas welcome for ruddy old St. Nicholas.

Tinsel, holly and gay family gatherings will greet him alike in desert hunt, mountain cabin, farm house and Park avenue mansion. For his visit dims everyday problems.

Despite business depression and unemployment, the nation will drop its work and observe the holiday this year with the customary spirit and joy.

While lack of money may curb some of the activities, indications are that charitable organizations, clubs and societies will assist the poor perhaps more than ever before.

At the White House there is much mysterious activity. For the first time since the Roosevelt administration youngsters are there to bring the real Christmas spirit.

The three little grandchildren of President and Mrs. Hoover—Peggy Ann aged 4, Herbert, Jr., 3 and Joan, 8 months—will have a tree of their own in the nursery arranged for them on the third floor.

There they will hang up their stockings and the President probably will act as Santa Claus. Another tree will be in the first floor reception room where its cheery sparkle can be seen by passersby.

White House Parties

Children of the President's secretaries and of cabinet members will be entertained at White House parties Christmas eve and night.

On farms in the corn belt, New England and the great western range and mountain states, sleigh bells still ring.

In these seasons the popularity of the sleigh ride has not entirely disappeared and in the holiday season many a modern automobile is left in the garage while its owner bundles into an old-fashioned hayrack placed on runners.

Work For Broadway

Along New York's two famous streets—Broadway and Park avenue—Christmas spirit is not such a simple matter.

Park avenue at Christmas is a lane of costly baubles, where presents pile up to their richest peak in price.

Along Broadway Christmas means extra work, and in these days of theatrical unemployment that is welcome. There are extra performances and benefits to entertain holiday crowds.

300 PERSONS AFFECTED IN SORE THROAT WAVE

Toronto—(P)—Three hundred residents of the town of Kirkland Lake are receiving medical attention for septic sore throat. There have been five deaths.

In a message received by Dr. J. M. Robb, minister of health, from his deputy minister, Dr. W. J. Bell, who is now at Kirkland Lake, it was stated that the disease had been traced directly to two workmen employed by one of the dairies.

The 300 cases are divided about equally between children and adults.

"The milk from the dairy was unpasteurized," said Dr. Robb. "Had it been pasteurized there is little doubt but that the epidemic would not have broken out as pasteurization kills the germs."

The minister of health said he believed the situation was fairly well in hand, but that it still was serious.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS HOLD PROGRAMS BEFORE RECESS

First Ward Students to Present Operetta This Evening

With the public schools and several parochial schools closing Friday for the Yuletide vacation, most Christmas programs in the schools will be given this week.

The most elaborate public school program will be given by the First Ward school at Roosevelt junior high school Thursday evening. An operetta, "The Christmas Toys Wake Up," and several smaller tableaux, dramatizations, and songs will be presented. The other grade schools will devote Friday afternoon to Christmas programs and parties in the separate classrooms, with the usual run of Christmas songs, recitations, Christmas trees, and small gifts.

The sophomore play, "One Gift

Above Another," will provide the Christmas entertainment for the high school. It will be given Friday afternoon in the high school auditorium, under the direction of Miss Ruth McKenney. William Wilson and Merrill Mohr will sing between acts.

Roosevelt junior high school will hold a series of home room parties Friday afternoon, and Wilson junior high will have an assembly program of songs, short plays, and recitations. At McKinley junior high school the ninth grade social science class will present the play, "The Spirit of Christmas," and a character artist will provide part of the entertainment.

The combined school and Sunday school program of Zion Lutheran church will be held Christmas eve. The same evening the St. Mathew Sunday school will present the play, "The Prince of Peace," and St. Paul school and Sunday School a Christmas program.

Three of the Catholic schools, St. Joseph, Sacred Heart and St. Mary, will celebrate with special programs and parties in each of the classes on Friday afternoon, while St. Theresa school will hold an assembly program for the entire school.

YULE PROGRAM IS NOT PLANNED AT SANATORIUM

There will be no Christmas program at Riverside Sanatorium this year because most of the patients are expecting to go home for the holidays, according to Miss Bridget Boyle, superintendent. As in former years, however, the building will be decorated in Christmas colors, and a large tree will be placed in the reception room. A large community tree also will be set up in front of the building. The annual dinner for patients who remain at the sanatorium over the holidays will be served at noon on Christmas Day.

DOCUMENT BRINGS $1,900
New York—(AP)—The original letters patent restoring the province of Pennsylvania to William Penn in 1684, bought $1,900 at auction here. The patent was issued by a writ of privy seal by William and Mary of England at Westminster and contains the portrait of William, the royal crest and other armorial designs. The seal is lacking.

OCONTO FALLS WILL LOWER WATER RATES

Madison—(AP)—Permission to reduce electric rates has been given the City of Oconto Falls Water and Light Department by the state railroad commission.

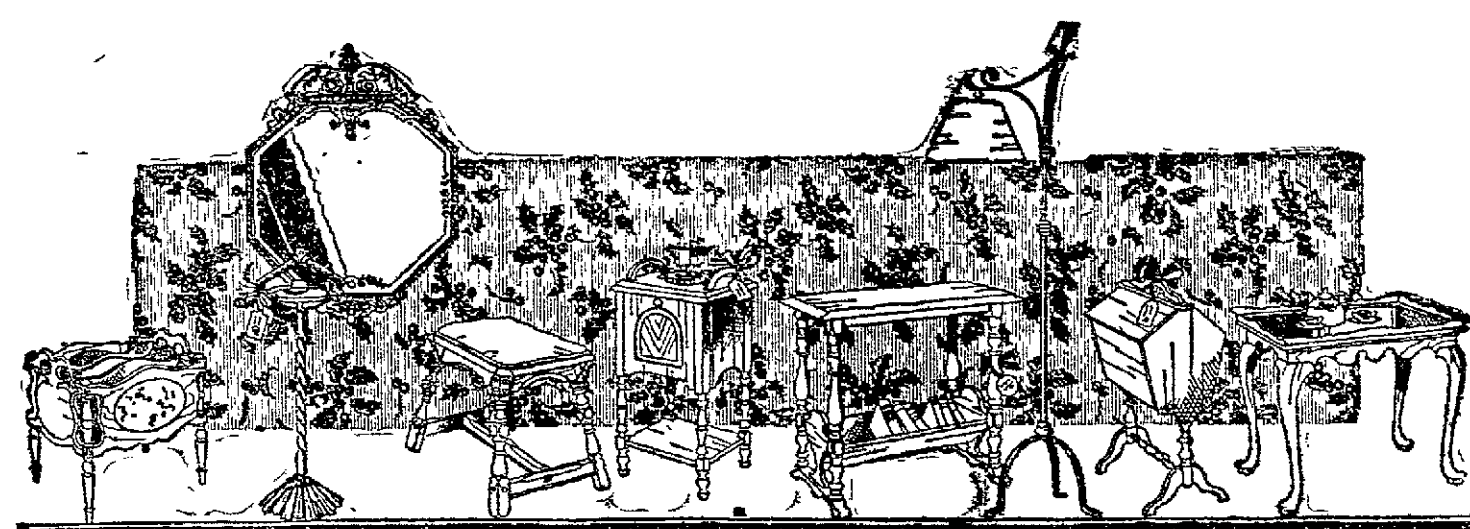

The city applied for authority to reduce the rates on various types of service. The new rates will result in a drop of about $1,000 a year in the department's net profits.

"It appears," the commission said, "that a reduction of this amount will still leave a fair return for the joint utility."

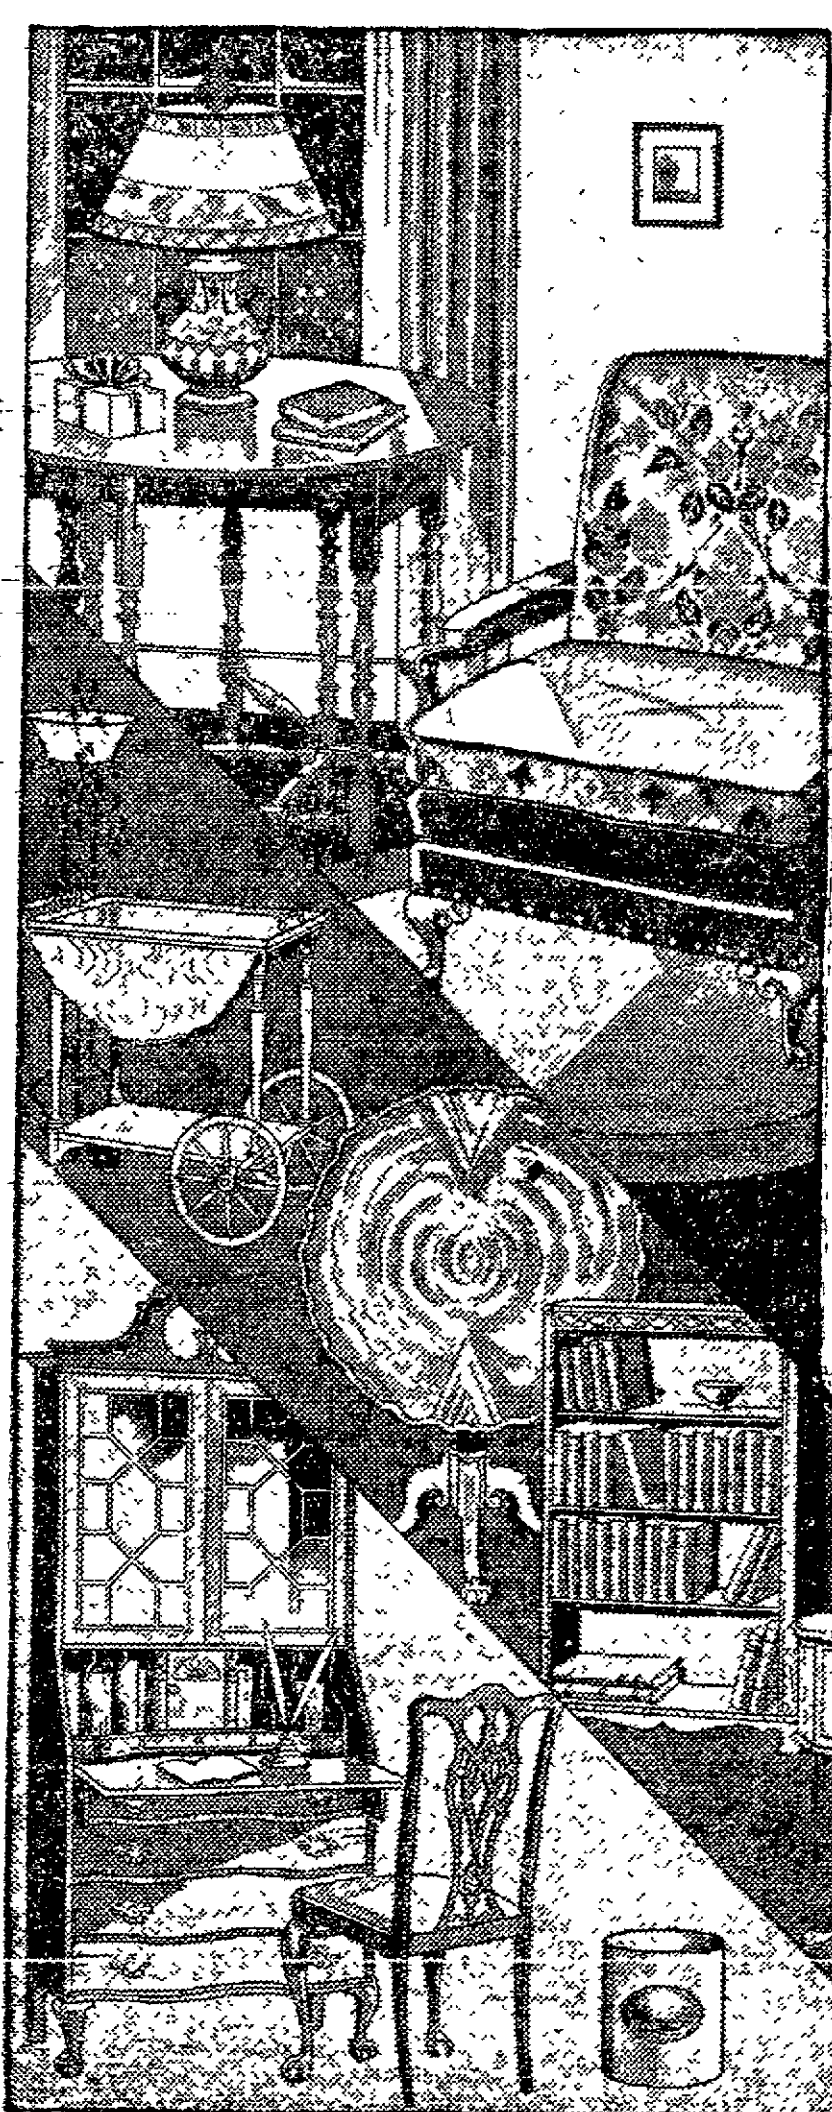

The commission also authorized the sale of the property of the St. Croix Valley Exchange company to the St. Croix Valley Telephone company for $118,749.11.

The agency railroad station at Ingram will be abandoned for customer service as a result of an order given to the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railroad. The agency station at Mullett was dismissed.

Statistics indicate airplane mechanics receive an average monthly pay of $157.

SYNOPSIS: When David Frost runs away and marries Fanny Freiburg, daughter of a poor German music teacher, his mother is furious. The Frosts and Brownbecks are the aristocrats of the little town of Cloughbore, Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Frost, old-fashioned and austere, is the recognized leader of the clan. David brings back his pretty, vivacious bride to the ancestral home, and Fanny at once is made to feel her mother-in-law's active dislike. Mrs. Frost blames Fanny when David announces his plan to take his bride to a cottage of their own, and persuades David's uncle, Judson Brownbeck, to refuse him an expected raise in salary at the bank. Undaunted, David throws up his job and persists in his intention to move.

hess. Getting up in the cold and wrestling with unruly fires was another matter. But on this anniversary morning Fanny had the house warm and the breakfast well under way before David awakened. "Dearest girl, you shouldn't." "But I like to, darling. I adore doing things for you! You ought to make me get up first." "A fat chance! But come here a kiss now." "David, are you glad to be here alone with me?" "Of course, goose. Where would I rather be?" "At your mother's you wouldn't have to get up at half-past five and make fires." "Well, I'd rather be here." Fanny did not remind David what day it was, but she spent most of the morning happily cracking and picking hickory nuts for his favorite cake, and the afternoon in making ready a special feast.

David ate an enormous dinner and praised every bite until Fanny, clogged with pride, they had their coffee in the living room, both wedged into the big Morris chair David had had at college. "David—do you think you'll ever get tired of me?" "No, goose." "Not in years and years?" "Not in a million years." "But, David, I'm serious. What would you do?" "I'd marry a young and beautiful chorus lady."

"Do you like young and beautiful chorus ladies?" "My child, when you have lived as long as I have you will know that the young and beautiful ladies of the chorus make a specialty of millionaires. So far I haven't had a ghost's chance to find out whether I like them or not."

"So you have to put up with me?" "So I have to put up with you," said David, and kissed her. "David, if I should die first, before we're awfully old, would you marry again?" David placed his two hands around Fanny's throat and squeezed it gently. "You'll take a ride to the cemetery, young lady, far sooner than you expect, if you don't stop your cheery evening's entertainment. What are you trying to do—make me cry?"

"No, darling, of course I'm not. Only I can't help thinking about it." "About what?" "That we can't always be together."

"Who says we can't?" "But if we should live to be 90 years old we'll have to part some time. Oh, David, promise you won't ever ever die first."

"Stop," commanded David roughly. "Talk about something else or I'll howl!" "This wasn't quite fair of Fanny, not quite sporting, David thought, knowing how frightened he had been these last weeks since it seemed certain they were going to have a baby. Fanny was peased—not at all frightened; all her life she had had so little to love.

Like all lovers David was never entirely unconscious of the menace of the final parting, but unlike Fanny he could not talk about it. If anything happened to Fanny.

Fanny's baby only brings increasing enmity from her mother-in-law—tomorrow.

Vienna—Science may never be able to create a man with a soul, but Prof. Scheminsky at the Vienna Physiological Institute has succeeded in creating a "something" which is neither organism nor living cell, but which reacts something like living organisms.

This something, as it is referred to, takes the form of a fresh-water organism when developed in fresh water and the form a sea-water organism when developed in sea water. When thrown into a certain solution it will pass through all the stages of growth through which a living organism would. It passes through a stage of youth, then a stage of maturity, then collapses from old age.

The professor states that he has merely proved amazing similarity between the behavior and growing inorganic, artificially-created chemical bodies and living organisms.

LEGISLATION OVER RADIO IS BREWING IN SHORT SESSION

High Power, Synchronization, and Education Due for Airing

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press
Washington—(CFA)—Even in this short session of congress the inevitable radio legislative tempest is brewing, with high power, synchronization and education via the radio due for swirls of political oratory. The blanket recommendation before the radio commission that all cleared channels be occupied by stations with zooming power of 50,000 watts, has conjured up resentment in the low power ranks of congress. Since the status of the super-power case is simply that of a recommendation by Chief Examiner Ellis A. Yost to the commission, these legislators are awaiting the action of the commission itself on the matter before they give vent to their wrath.

Synchronization, the means by which it is hoped to solve broadcasting's problem of congestion in the ether, through the alignment of great networks of stations on the same wavelength by means of "boosters" strewn throughout the nation, is arousing a thought of monopoly on capitol hill.

With the National Broadcasting Co. already authorized to invade the field, and with Columbia as well as N. B. C. buying up stations, wherever they can to make room for synchronization, certain members of congress seem to sense an economic problem in broadcasting that may seriously affect independent stations.

First Plan Approved
The first step in N. B. C.'s synchronization project was taken Tuesday when the radio commission approved its plan to synchronize station WVIC in Hartford, Conn., and station WBAL in Baltimore.

These stations now divide time on a cleared channel with the two keys of the N. B. C. chain in New York—and thereby afforded the two stations full time operation, instead of alternate day broadcasting. Within a few months the stations will be on the air actually synchronized and it will be the supreme test for the radio method that is destined to revolutionize the broadcasting structure. A matter of such far-reaching potential effect is bound to attract the attention of congress.

The demands of education and of labor for recognition in broadcasting came to a legislative head Tuesday when Senator Glenn, (Rep.) Ill., introduced a resolution providing that one cleared channel each shall be assigned exclusively for education, labor and agriculture.

On the high power question, peak interest is being evidenced not only in radio circles but in congress.

Decision Awaited
What the commission will do with the Yost recommendation that all of the 20 front-rank stations which staged a battle royal for the eight remaining assignments of 50,000 watts be granted their requests, and that the commission rescind its order limiting the number of such stations to operation on 20 of the 40 cleared channels, is the big question. Yost said in his report that the commission would make the greatest contribution possible to radio listeners by lifting the barrier and permitting all cleared channels to have stations of the maximum power.

The impression prevails that the commission will remand the whole case back to Yost, and ask him to choose from among the 20 high-powered applicants the eight stations which should be given the assignments now vacant under the existing regulations, since 12 channels already are occupied by 50,000 watt stations, and the limit is 20 channels.

Commissioners H. A. Lafont and W. D. L. Starbuck are outspoken in their support of high-power and will favor the Yost report. Commissioner I. E. Robinson is just as firm in his opposition, while vice chairman E. O. Sykes in the past consistently has opposed "super-power", although he is non-committal about the present case. Chairman C. McK. Saltzman, it is understood on good authority, is inclined to oppose the blanket increase in power.

If this line-up holds, then it is a certainty that the high-power case, which has been a political football in radio since the commission took over will be kicked back to Examiner Yost for a new recommendation.

BUCHAREST STIRRED BY APPROACHING DUEL

Bucharest, Rumania—(AP)—Bucharest society is excited over a challenge to a duel sent by M. Filipescu, president of the American Telephone company, to Herr Mutius, German minister here.

The challenge is the outgrowth of a letter allegedly sent by Herr Mutius to a newspaperman in which he belittles Premier Mironescu and ridicules Prince Barbu Stirbey for his opposition to Prince Carol's return to Bucharest.

M. Filipescu has had a fascimile of the letter published. He wishes to have the German minister recalled.

LAWYERS DON'T FAIL TO ROAST SELVES AT GRID-IRON FUNCTION

Chicago — (AP)—"Crime and Punishment" was the title of a comedy staged by the Chicago Bar association at a "Gridiron" dinner in which the attorneys directed their humor against all of Chicago's chief officials. Neither did they neglect themselves. One character was made to say:

"I'm the lawyer for the men who pay."

"I'm Al Capone's own protegee."

"I'm counsel for the great beer trust."

"Their differences I adjust."

"I guide the man, with skill and art."

"Who gets him out? Who sets him free?"

CURB MAKES SLOW PROGRESS UPWARD

Rally Which Started Wednesday Broadens and Continues Today

Wheat moved slowly and cautiously today. Momentum gained on yesterday's rally had been carried into the early trading, but when the inevitable profit-taking appeared, cutting back into the advances. Trading on the reaction was extremely quiet, and professionals returned to the long side, although the resumption of the upward movement was not marked by particular vigor.

Utilities were rather sluggish and there seemed to be less disposition to follow the rally in the grain than in others. Short covering helped the oils substantially. Humble and Vacuum rising 3 points while Stand-

Gains of a point or two in Diamond Match, Dresser Manufacturing "A," Leigh Coal, Ford of Canada "A," Deere and Newmont Mining indicated the quiet contraction of the short interest in the industrials and specialties. Anglo Chilean Nitrate ruffled several points coincident with reports that final plans for financing this nitrate merger were to be discussed.

Investment trusts were steady. Bute Idaho and Shenandoah issues were little affected by the announcement.

ment that large additional blocks of both companies' preferred shares had been retired.

Electric Bond and Share was fairly active and succeeded in getting about a point higher, but the improvement in other utility favorites was small.

DEPARTMENT WILL APPROPRIATE FUND TO HELP FARMERS

Money Will Finance Investigation of Tobacco, Cheese Industry

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Washington

Washington — Investigations designed to benefit the cheese, paper,
and lumber manufacturers and the tobacco and dairy farmers of Wisconsin will be carried on with funds appropriated in the Department of Agriculture appropriation bill for the fiscal year 1932, beginning next July 1, now being debated in the House of Representatives.

In addition to money for the investigations, the bill provides $800,- 000, to be immediately available, for completion of the Forest Products Laboratory at the University of Wisconsin at Madison, for which $100,000 was previously appropriated for use during the present year, and $197,780 for the Upper Mississippi Valley Wild Life and Fish Refuge.

Of course, this bill also provides the $3,000,000 or so which will be given by the federal government to Wisconsin during the next fiscal year for roadbuilding, the exact amount to be allotted.

Much of the Department of Agriculture's work in Wisconsin is done
in cooperation with state agencies, including the work of the Forest Products Laboratory.

The new job to be undertaken by the department in Wisconsin is the study of Swiss cheese problems, to be carried on in cooperation with cheese manufacturers in Monroe, for which $3,800 is appropriated.

To furnish man

The Department of Agriculture
plans to furnish a man who will work with the various factories within a radius of about 25 miles of Monroe, in which 84.6 per cent of all the Swiss cheese made in the United States is produced. This man will try to introduce into these factories methods of manufacture worked out by department experts to improve the quality of American-made Swiss cheese. Another man will seek to improve the quality by improving the milk supply.

Of these plans, O. E. Reed, chief of the Bureau of Dairy Industry, told the Appropriations committee:

"There is something like 70,000,000 pounds of Swiss cheese valued at about $20,000,000 imported into this country each year and I think it is worth while for the federal government to cooperate with these people in the center of the Swiss cheese industry in an effort to improve the quality."

The University of Wisconsin will furnish one of the men and will pay the traveling expenses of the federal man and furnish him with laboratory facilities.

Mr. Reed said he hoped with the new methods to help American manufacturers produce nearly 80 per cent Fancy and No. 1 grades, whereas at present only about 25 per cent
of their product is of these grades,
and about 50 per cent of the Swiss product is of these high grades.

The department will continue its investigations of cigar binder and filler types of tobacco in Wisconsin and Pennsylvania, for which $13,000
is being used this year.

Lab Gets $675,000
The Forest Products Laboratory
at Madison gets $675,000, to be used in various investigations, including searching for an antishrink treatment for wood, $15,000; improvement of the use of wood in frame buildings, including preventing "swayback" barns, $10,000; improvement of the lasting qualities of paints, $8,700, which, they say, would result in saving owners of frame dwellings $500,000,000 a year; if successful;
continued work on paper and pulp
improvement, wood preservation,
and other investigations of the laboratory.

For forest economics investigations, an additional $25,000 is provided for studies as to how to develop the cut-over lands, many of which have reverted for tax delinquency into forest lands. The discussion of this item in the committee centered around what has happened in Wisconsin, where the tax delinquency of cut-over lands, and the failure to develop such lands into good farms presents a problem, according to the experts and congressmen discussing
it. The Forest Service hopes to work out some means by which such areas can probably be reforested. In this work, too, Uncle Sam will cooperate with Wisconsin in making the studies.

Wisconsin gets from the bill an increase of $1,900 in the federal funds contributed to aid in protecting her forests from fire, bringing the federal contribution to $47,333, while the state will probably furnish about three times that amount, if history repeats itself. The state will also get about $1,785 to help distribute forest planting stock.

The federal department, the University of Wisconsin, and the owner of a large dairy farm in Wisconsin are cooperating in a study to develop a way to build barns so that their ventilation and heating will be conducive to the milk supply, and keep the supply from falling off in the winter. This will cost about $12,000.

Stokowski Seeks To Make Symphony By Radio Ideal

Philadelphia (AP) — Leopold Stokowski contents there still is room

for vast improvement in the technique of broadcasting symphonic music.

This statement, made by the conductor of the Philadelphia orchestra previous to the presentation of his second concert this season, also included an announcement that he had discarded part of the equipment

he used to control the volume of the broadcast in October, which opened his second year on the air.
radio broadcasting," the conductor said, "convince me more and more of its immense future possibilities,

but also of its present limitations.
"After giving much thought, to our last radio concert I have decided to discard part of the equipment we used and have planned
three new types of equipment for our next concert on November 16.
"We are aiming thereby to take another step forward on the long road radio must travel before it will achieve all of its vast but latent possibilities."

Stokowski has declined to reveal the method he uses in attempting to fit symphony orchestra music
within the limitations of broadcasting, but in his October broadcast,

which originated from the Times
he conducted from within a glass cage, visible to his musicians, but hearing the music through a loudspeaker. A transmitter control board also was sent up within the enclosure.

The part of the equipment to be discarded was not described by Stokowski. However, it is known that he was not entirely satisfied with the results of the October broadcast, after which he was deluged by letters and telegrams from listeners expressing wide differences of opinion as to whether his device was a success or a failure.

The November 16 broadcast is to be made by WEAF and coast to coast network of NBC at 5 p. m.
(EST).
